

How to Achieve Your Satanic Goals - New Year Gift

Post by HP. Hoodedcobra666

Tue Dec 31, 2019 12:10 am

Greetings to all of our Satanic Warriors and Family.

Now I am going to be brief and simple with this, because there is no need to overly confuse this. This is only a gift for our own. It would be so much better if everyone was as giving to others as they wished to be given to themselves. Maybe some of our own can get a better proportion for the next linear year on how to achieve our purposes. In anyway, the stronger all of you are, the stronger are our Gods, and this is a positive relationship going back and forth. Therefore feel free to use the below as a guide to attain your goals into the next linear year.

I write this in particular as many people want to receive help from the Gods, and do not understand what is keeping them back from receiving full help from the Gods. This is close to helping one's own self. If these issues are addressed all of our are going to receive extra blessings and empowerment, and improve better.

All these years I have seen that in contrast to the enemy religions, in which less than 0.5 in 10 of people get better or get richer, or spiritually more full, in Satanism, 9 out of 10 people gain a lot of things spiritually and in every other way. The rest of the 1 in 10 do not partake as they are not in sync or don't know in general how to get out of this.

Think of how many people you see in despair everyday that belong to the enemy. Sheer hopelessness. The enemy has people only as cattle, and this makes everyone suffer. Their suffering is fundamental for the enemy to keep going. Nobody gains anything emotionally or otherwise from these corrupted faiths of the enemy. Suffering, poverty of the mind and spirit, stupidity, reign on people's lives.

In Satanism this is all but the reverse. All the above is a net loss in Satanism.

1. Remember to study the JoS / Keep a Journal / Retain memory.

Now this one is really simple. The mind is forgetful, we tend to forget easily. Given the enemy and many other factors such as daily life, the mind gets adjusted to things that make us forget in many cases why we are here and what we are here to do. Not only on the JoS, but on this world in general, and with ourselves. Eventually, one may even get completely lost.

It's important to keep a little Journal commemorating times that the Gods have given you help and guidance. Eventually you'll see this journal [make sure it doesn't fall on enemy hands] getting filled to the brim with smaller or larger miracles by the Gods. After a point you will become immunized in your relationship with the Gods and doubting it, but to get there, you have to build a relationship of trust. This is done gradually.

Another thing I do every year is I re-read the JoS. Why would I re-read the JoS? Simply because the mind tends to forget, and many things one is complaining or doesn't know that exist, are already in there. Another thing you can do is have your list of posts that motivate you and keep you in memory of what you need to retain in your memory. And re-read them to remind yourself why you do what you do.

If you do the above, you make it easier for the Gods to help you by pushing you to the proper material for your advancement and to get you to the next step in whatever goal you have in mind.

One last thing to remember here is what I see with some people who "forget" why they are around or have wavering faith. In many situations this is only a loop in memory. Anyone who has become a Satanist will always be one. Do not let your memory falter to that. However, you may temporarily forget, and to avoid forgetfulness, this happens by keeping on the memory.

2. Do not despair with failure / Have Patience.

Failure is part of life and it tends to happen. Every person who has ever achieved anything has failed at some point one or many times. In many cases failure can be a sign that one must change a goal, but if you have a goal that is within reach, it's only setting you up for you to change your approach and method. Failure is not only a negative sign but also a sign you need to change pace or how you go about a goal.

Depending on your goal you will need to have patience. Some real longterm goals like life overhaul or some great work for Satan, are going to take a huge amount of time to you. Every goal that at first looks insurmountable can be achieved by breaking it down to smaller goals, that are attainable.

An example here is one wants to reach X job in X field, but it may look like unattainable today. Let's say one wants to become a top programmer in a top company on a top field. The way to achieve this goal is to go by frequent steps that bring you daily towards the goal, and not get bitter you didn't attain it one shot. These things are not attained one shot, and that is the way of nature. Nature builds things gradually and so do we.

Build Rome brick by brick everyday.

3. Know that With the Gods you can attain almost anything.

I write 'almost' above because well realistically speaking, one cannot put the Sun in their pocket. If this is not your goal and you aren't deluded, then most other goals you will be able to achieve. Personal goals can be achieved.

The Gods are really advanced beings and our obstacles to them can be like really small. However, how WE obstruct our own goals is not a joke. Satan has repeatedly told me on this, that "One can be a biggest obstacle in their own goals" and that even if the Gods can move "you" out of the way temporarily to push you towards a goal, if you are not ready yourself for it, you will mess everything up.

Remember, this is your life. You're a major player in your own life. Others may have more power than you do, but in the end of the day, you are the player in your own life.

To give an example here, one wants a girlfriend, and they had a really bad karma where this area of the life is concerned. So a higher power may be able to bring you a girlfriend, or a significant other, that is, if you allow it to somehow happen. Even if the goal comes in your life, if you are in a terrible personal condition, you will not hold on the goal or maintain positive and stable mentality to keep the tree that you have been given to bear fruit and take care of it for all seasons.

On the other hand if you planted the tree on your own, and you grown it, and you learned to love it and take care of it, you'll always know and care about it in the future. In the eyes of the Gods they want us to be creators and not parasites. In the longterm of things being a creator will be useful to you for all eternity, as no matter where you find yourself, you'll build yourself out of this mess. You'll be strong.

Parasites on the other hand are really weak. In their case there is no tree, all they want is to be given something that is ready or take the tree of someone else to consume the fruit. Eventually they will not take care of it, and it will rot. Then these die and they go invade the tree of someone else. These species of life are bound to die, suffer, and be failures for all eternity. Don't be this type of person if you love yourself and you want to be successful.

Mimic the Gods in that regard and you're sure to grow.

4. Listen to the Gods and heed their warnings.

How many times I have written to people let's say to NOT do drugs? I'll repeat it until the end. However, as much effort as it takes for a man to plant a big ass sign that there is "Danger Ahead", it takes so little effort for another man to just not give a shit. And let's say that you consider that whatever, you think you know better and you can deny this.

You deny, but where does this lead? In sickness, in delusion, in destruction of your life, and in other perilous situations. Don't be waiting for your life to go to shit to understand that you must listen to sensible advice.

The Gods typically when one is on the totally wrong way, they will issue you warnings. Unlike the enemy, who profits from misery, pain and suffering, the Gods do NOT profit from this. They suffer alongside you.

It's time to consider your life closer to the Gods and stop allowing the enemy to deceive you that you are alone because you are not. In that regard and when your life doesn't solely "Belong to you" [Convenient bullshit of the 21st century to justify self-destruction] you must think how you ruining yourself has reverberations to others.

For example, one disgraces their family when they have drugs. If you have a brother, you cannot take care of them, and you'll become a burden to them. When you're about to do something really stupid and self damning, think to yourself about the people or the things that you love, and you'll see that a strong power arises from inside you that prohibits you from going down the slide. Nurture this power by thinking more about the Gods.

Now one may say that one is not advanced to listen to their messages. That is OK. Listen to your common sense instead, through which many times the Gods try to pass messages through to you.

5. Stop being a Communist

The Communist mindset implies the usual bullshit that we are all equal and that garbage. We are not equals. No, we are not equal, and that is a good thing. I am not equal to Satan, nor the Gods, and this is why I follow them, and lay my ears to listen.

I am not equal to Warren Buffet in financial knowledge, I am sure the majority here isn't either. If someone of you is a supreme pro athlete, we are not equal. That's a good thing. I don't deserve to be your equal since it's been a long time since I was into pro level athletics.

It's a fact and I don't feel inferior because of it. It's great that things are like that. This is because there is someone better to look out to, and someone better that will look out to you. In the same way there is someone that will look out to me, that is better at something.

When I read shit of people saying we are equal to the Gods, or that we are all equal, I cringe. Do you know the day you are going to die? You do not. Do you know what you will be eating next week Sunday lunch? You don't. Do you have power to control your destiny in full? You do not.

Step down this pedestal of equality and you will be liberated, and your heart will glow with happiness.

This barrier of hate towards superiors and wanting to be "Equal" by doing nothing that the people above one do, is mentally parasitic and a sure guarantee to keep you at the bottom in life. You are not better than a xian if you think like this. Xians always hate their superiors and they abolish all notion of ranking and superiority, because they are garbage that believes that "All men are equal in the eyes of Stalin". Sorry, I mean "Equal in the eyes of the lord". Xians also keep those close them pinned down through this - forced "Equality".

Equality exists only amongst dead beings. It's a blessing to be unequal and not a curse. Do you want to be equal to the doctor that is about to do a surgery to you in surgical knowledge? You definitely do not.

Then why do you want to be equal to others who can are here to empower you and help you?

Satan and the Gods have a hierarchical system of mutual support. This is the best way to empower all beings and go forward, not bullshit such as "equality" and other garbage. One is a Satanist because they understand the Gods are better than us in knowledge and in many things. We idolize them and want to be their equals, but we have to be real unto ourselves in that we are not in the present. In the future, as we stride, we'll become better.

Communism has been put into the masses to render people stupid and worthless. This is because these people have no destiny and they aren't going anywhere. So it's ok for them to believe they are all equals and have no individuality. It's not like they are meant for anything.

6. Small habits make for big changes

This is a military mentality and it's definitely going to help you. While it may look like that if you make your bed daily, or do your meditation daily, this has no connection to your larger destiny, this has a definite connection by a very straight line.

If you are keen to follow a meditation routine everyday today without fail, you will become stronger in willpower to attain and be successful in further goals in life. If you can maintain let's say half an hour daily, no matter what, to meditate, you are far more prone to becoming successful than people who are sloppy and are permanently disorganized.

Everyday you put a little brick on your Rome and you'll have your personal temple. If one is ready to put a brick a day, you'll have it for sure sooner or later. If you are not putting the brick you never will. Putting a brick looks like it's superficial but it's actually the foundation upon which you'll build greater things.

7. Keep meditating...

As a last point, meditation is foundation in Spiritual Satanism, which is the Eternal Path. Why? Because all the tips in the world cannot be assimilated by the mind if your mind is not open.

The aspect of the mind that decides how your life goes, is not the logical mind on it's own. It's what we can call the "repetitive" part of the mind. This part of the mind needs a different kind of work, and the same goes for the Female or Subconscious part of the mind.

These need to be worked on deeply if you want success, and the way to do this is through cleaning and elevating the soul. After this the male or conscious aspect of the mind can be brought to work for you more to your advantage.

The female mind is build upon by what you do on with the male mind or conscious mind. This is simple, and this means, that you have to do with the male mind consciously to guide the female mind to work for your advantage rather than your disadvantage. To get in the mind and clear it, you have to practice meditation on a consistent basis, and this is the only way of actual and lasting success.

8. Take responsibility

Finally this is the path to the Godhead, so it's good if you take responsibility. If you have taken responsibility for your mind and actions (this can take a very long time, it's a gradual process) you will have to accept that if you have the personal power to change things, then you also have responsibility over changing things.

While the enemy may be responsible for a lot of ugly stuff, obstacles and so forth, so is someone who has the ability to do something and sits by watching idle. The world is at the state it is because Abrahamic programs promote endlessly for humans to be irresponsible.

When you leave the enemy faiths, you leave that type of shit behind you, you move to be a better being. Therefore, the more behaviors you bring from your old faith, the more these keep you back.

The person that goes to heaven in xianity is the most non-existent person and the most irresponsible person, the dumbest, who never takes care of themselves or others. In real life these people only end up in eternal torment and permanent failure.

It's a good idea to stop constant complaints about your life. If you're strong or trying to get stronger, use your time not to only to complain, but rather try to do your best to make things in your life better. You'll feel better relief that way.

Xianity is also based on this lie that if you fall on your knees and beg the egregore for help like a slave and do nothing else, it will help you. 99,9% people who believe that shit and get nothing, testify to the falsity of this thing. This comes from the belief that they are totally failed and only slaves. All the slave does is beg for the breadcrumbs of the table of it's master.

Satanism is the Reverse: You ask for help and guidance to sail, and then you get to sailing. The Gods will help to bring the positive tide on you to reach your destination, and help. Still the wheel is in your hands, so you have to be good at it. We're not about begging and tears to our deities. Since the Gods give the instructions, the wheat, the water, you make the dough and make your bread. That's independence.

They don't want us to be servile slaves like the enemy does. Instead of begging on the table of the Gods for breadcrumbs, go make some bread and be strong in yourself and truly independent.

I hope this helps everyone and happy New Year!

-High Priest Hooded Cobra 666

© Joy of Satan Ministries

www.joyofsatan.org