

Once in a Lifetime Opportunity: Working for Satan and The Powers of Hell

High Priest Hooded Cobra 666

4 July, 2022

I want to first and foremost wish to our SS in the United States, a very pleasing 4th of July.

Have faith in the United States, and remember the roots of its spirit, which came from Europe and the deeper foundation of the common Ancient Greek spirit, with the source of this great well being our Gods.

Slowly, as anyone can see, the enemy's scourge is collapsing. It is clearly looking like they are having a major reaction due to this collapse they have brought upon themselves with all their negative acts.

It is a very good thing that many people understand the value of our undertaking and that quite a few of us are willing to take this further and further until a full on victory and success of the Gods.

We must build this ourselves, and through our own efforts. This is our world and we live in it, and we are actively sharing an aspect of responsibility each on how this will go for ourselves.

We are here to make this happen for the Gods, and this time gives those who want to work for the Gods a very worthwhile opportunity.

In the future, when all things will be "set", people that have worked on these today will be remembered by the Gods and other people as legends.

The same opportunity to do something important in 20 or 30 years when everyone will be rushing in from all directions to do things for the "Gods", after we have set the base - will not exist as it does today.

To put it simply, on a spiritual scale, those who do things right now for the Gods, it's like you are buying Bitcoin at the 10 dollar range. If certain people don't want to buy as much as possible within this range, then the spiritual multiplier one will receive will never be the same.

Translators and many other SS who have wonderful opportunities now, to fulfill great and very important tasks for the Gods. The Gods highly value the carriers of the message to other Nations.

The light of all Ancient Civilizations shines and empowers this great undertaking.

These tasks represent a unique form of work that will stay in the future for the Gods and please them more than anything right now. In a sense, one acts as a conduit through which many millions that couldn't otherwise see the Truth - will end up seeing it.

It's easy to get lost in minor details in life and think that your life could be spent elsewhere, and that one doesn't have time to do something like this, or whatever. There are very FEW things in this world that you can do that will gain you a council with the Gods or their care.

You could make 1 trillion dollars, and still, if you will be nobody that wants to do anything for them, you will be solely by yourself. Meanwhile, a person with nothing that did things for them, will receive the fulfillment of deeper promises, both in this lifetime and in their successive lifetimes.

Now, many people are narrow minded, thinking of the present. The enemy will fall, and when they do, people will be begging they have done something earlier, as many people today beg that Bitcoin would fall on 10$ again.

This might never happen, ever again. It's good to take this opportunity now. Inside what many call as "Kali Yuga" or "Evil Times", there rests a great opportunity to do something great.

Certain souls who did the right thing in the Middle Ages and in other Ages of great deception and evil, are now crowned and have been so for a very long time. It was extremely difficult back then.

When it comes to doing work for JoS, helping this endeavor, etc., I know I am investing in my spiritual future, but also the spiritual future of everyone else here, but our collective future as human beings too.

I know that is the best investment of any amount of money, time and energy - since I know that as time goes, there is nothing else that one could have said was a better investment.

There is nothing I would trade or exchange for this understanding and these moments where the Gods have looked at me with great love, care and support. If you have felt this, you know how that is.

And then, there is this great unending feeling of indebtedness towards these beings, who have helped us all so considerably and still care to elevate us and help us through everything. There are simply too many unending ways to look at this.

If you think what we can do now with only a few hours of our time and determination, everyone who can must seize this opportunity.

The same goes for those who do Spiritual Warfare and care for this endeavor in other ways. When we will own the planet or something similar, "everyone" will kiss our ass to serve us. The same Christians you see now that boastfully go round and round, these very same souls, will be on their knees praising our Gods instead most likely.

This will be honorable then too, but the real strong individuals and those who will receive the inordinate return, are those who help now when things are low. The Gods see all.

They do not understand anything, but they will worship just about anything that comes forth. These people are sheep. At this time where the world is against us, many souls are dividing themselves and showing their inherent importance.

When we become the ruling power, yes, every person you see outside might bow to us, but their bowing will not be as important as the few who stood up during these times, or have stood back in other times such as the Middle Ages etc. The Gods KNOW these souls, and they will reward them in ways that we cannot understand.

Lastly, I have found over many years of doing things for the Gods on a constant basis. The most beautiful way to connect with them, is to work for them and do meaningful things for what they care about.

When people tell you that the solitary path will bring you "Closer", that is not a fully factual truth. As the Gods care about others, when we show proper care [by actually doing something, not idle chit chat], we are then emulating them.

In my opinion, one must not allow this opportunity to be lost. Do at least something and do at least something meaningful for this.

If one is not yet "ready", then one can become ready gradually. But one must not let it take "forever". We show what we are made of in this life, not always at some other time.

As you will live on with life, you will have the ability to say that you touched something spiritual in life. Other people have went through this no more than existing as animals.

You'll notice in life that you don't even remember what you ate two weeks ago, but the day of your Dedication, or when a God first came to meet you, or the finding of your Guardian Demon, you remember this.

Unfulfilling will be the life of those who waste their life in only nonsense and only grotesque matters, let alone when the opportunity to do something for the Gods presented itself.

This, in the end of it, is the most important thing to do right now.
