

Satanic Existence - The Path of Satya & Life

The path of Spiritual Satanism is a Philosophical path. What does this mean?

Forget what you have learned, this has nothing to do with what you read in philosophical books, it has nothing to do with what you heard or a quote you googled. If you have a diploma in this, you won't become a better "Philosopher".

The above word means to become a Friend of Wisdom or a Friend of the Serpent.

Apollo, befriended the Serpent, after waging a war with her. In the same way, you must understand love and war, left and right, truth and falsehood, right and error. We sail our lives through all of this like a ship.

Existence happens in this duality until we start understanding more of the well sought "Why" of things.

As Father Satan shows, instructs and leads us, we are led to meaning and understanding. Any other developed being, and you too in the future [for those who walk the path] will start understanding that life has a purpose to it. Yes, a full-on purpose.

Life is not ending in nihilism. We also choose to adhere to this purpose or not adhere to it, as we have freedom. But is this the freedom we really seek? Some people would say yes.

There is reason behind all things in the universe. Yet, the same reason is not yet present in all human beings. This, was reserved for those who will rise in understanding and higher on the ladder of Consciousness. But why?

Because clearly, this will make you into a "God". Before yourself celebrate, be aware, that the Godhead, comes with certain duties incumbent to it, many beauties, and it's like extending your existence and life.

Consider also, that the Gods, or the beings higher in the ladder of existence, do indeed help us too here to rise up. Thoughts might come to mind now in regards to how many times you have done errors, asked help from your Guardians and might have succeeded or failed, and how much you learn as you go into this path.

This path, is life to the fullest. The fact that some people don't understand "life" and are influenced only from Television standards of a "Robust life", is a very partial projection of life. Life is intensified in Spiritual Satanism, because this process of life gains strong importance and meaning.

As you advance, you become older and stronger than other people. Fools who are stuck in low consciousness engage into a pointless "power" loop, such as immature souls. You see these people every day, and yes, it's even us that can sometimes behave in this way.

Except of these fools, we also see another special kind of fool, which is the person that literally does not exist in themselves - almost existing as an NPC in a literal sense. Between the two, the dream of existence as opposed to real existence, is reflecting upon itself.

The point is to escape this cycle and to eventually become a self-conscious entity in this life as much as we can. To understand as much more as we can, and to rise higher and higher.

As you progress in your development, and I speak from the perspective of having achieved one of the final ends of this path and having truly SEEN the world and things for what they are, the above is inconsequential.

Did I have to mention the above? Certainly not. It is of no consequence to others. I am here to help others as much as I can. Yet, as we can see, we humans have a dual nature. We want to be led and helped, yet we only want to listen to ourselves.

I speak for those who are at the level to listen to others, but above all, to open your ears so the Gods can speak to you and lead you to the path. At given moments, exposure of one's sun is necessary to remind to others that the Sun exists.

We live in a dim world and we are all at a war to help survive our inner light, which this world seeks to end. It can be as if sometimes, conditions, other people, or even life, wants to keep you prisoner and ruin your spirit. This path is the opposition to this entropic force. We fight against this with a smile on our face.

With the internet, co-existence with many retards online is sort of like existing in a mental space of fools. Just go around a Wicca forum and you'll see. Pharaohs, Gods, Starseeds and so on.

In the "Occult" space, the most stupid fools I have seen, are those who claim to be "Studied" or "Extremely advanced", yet, this shows nowhere. Where are their contributions to mankind? Or even a few people for that matter?

Of what use is this greatness of theirs? Have they done anything for anyone except of perpetuating falsehoods? No.

The above is how you understand you are talking with skills. I tell you from experience, the Gods do not take any of these beings seriously. They need to see that you make a real and honest extending of yourself to grow to take you seriously. When you see the first signs of their care, you will be bolstered beyond belief.

As mentioned above, the Universe exists in reason and in purpose. Certain events such as even the enemy or downfall and so on, are not to make you sad or angry, it can be argued, that even if these are totally useless and a useless bottleneck, but a good way to look at this is like that: A good opportunity to grow stronger than ever before.

As we can see, our perspective matters a lot here.

This remains a mystery to a soul until a point of greater awakening occurs. The Serpent can incur a lot of this. This might happen to people once or twice, but you will come changed out of these experiences.

Life acts in strange odd ways. Yet, people decide to experience life without pondering it's meaning at all. Today people are getting weaker and weaker.

Years ago, there was one person that told me they wanted to leave the Forums because they cannot "stand" me. They couldn't stand certain things I said. Of course, we live in a densely populated world, not everyone is at the same time and not all can be satisfied at once. Maybe I wouldn't stand myself under different circumstances.

If you brought the 10-year-old me to the present person, that would be a literal struggle to make the two co-exist. With certainty, I couldn't exist with my own self about 20 years ago under the same household.

Therefore, to me it is not a problem if certain people might not like some things, but the real question is, maybe we have to look at things with a bit of more meaning than with less meaning?

Could we say that there would be a reason the 10-year-old "I's" have to co-exist and give birth to our present selves, and consequently, that through the process of our evolution, whole walls into our falsehoods have to be taken down? I think any person here who has faced themselves can say YES.

In this world, we exist with other beings in order to play together. Do not take this out of context. This was taken out of context with the enemy - forced migration, melting pot, love your destroyers and so on.

What is meant here is a philosophical notion within the confines of likeminded souls and people. Why are people brought together?

Why, even the Gods, in contrast to the enemy's claims of Monotheism, are many, and not only this, but they welcome other beings into their fold, given the conditions are met?

This in the Satanic Context would mean to accept one's place and rise, or fall, according to natural and heavenly dictate. We want to join the ranks of the Gods, don't we? Therefore, with this ambition, one has to understand what this journey entails.

We have to play together in a band. Not all instruments are the same, and indeed, if there are only violins and drums, it can sound horrific. But add some more organs into this, and then you have a symphony.

Most people, are so weak nowadays, that they cannot even tolerate other people existing and so on. As the self is shrunk and the less people truly compare with others or understand themselves in face value, we have become very insane.

We live in the era where many want to only live inside a self-perpetuated delusion. The deeper, the better, and people are told that's a good thing or something. In fact, this is the way to loneliness and death.

This insanity can reach the point where for example a random person can consider themselves anything based on merely the falsehood of perceived false emotions, in this isolation. The favorite line of quite a few people for example, is that they cannot "Be here" or that they cannot "tolerate the world".

Were you put inside a world to literally not tolerate any facet of it, though? Is there a reason into any of this?

Because the world at large does NOT want you to grow, and the world benefits from this lie of self-perpetuated delusion, they perpetuate this meme that anyone is what they "feel" they are and so on. The reality is, that we are what we are.

We are not what we "feel" like we are, although, the skilled occultist can use this in the context of creating a spell and so on, for where they want to grow INTO.

Spiritual Satanism teaches this "Becoming", but first it teaches you where you stand. Do we want to see this? If yes, we accelerate our growth exponentially.

Those who have the least love for lies and nonsense, will rise high into this path. Meditation is the development of this very awareness and understanding. You are given power and understanding to start going deeper into life and yourself.

Can one not see a reason here?

Is not Satan asked to deliver people from "all past error and delusion" in the Rituals? Do you consider this line in vain? It is a very important line and arguably, the only real way to power and knowledge.

And through the TRUE seeing, you will attain the level of a Madha-Siddha, which is the level of True Consciousness, which is named SAT - the famous prefix of our Holy Name, SATANAS. In Yoga, this is called SATANAMA.

We follow Father Satan for very specific reasons. We know these reasons in our deepest part in the Soul but it can get difficult sometimes to understand these in a plain fashion. After a time, we shed falsehood and we can see this clearly.

As I publish the necessary posts, you will understand what your heart already knew when it entered this place. What is the reason? To help this blooming stabilize and accelerate.

On a higher state of consciousness, you understand your own place in this universe, your duties, and also, the clear path forward for yourself. You can really help or harm others. The choice remains yours in the end of the day in this universe of actions and reactions.

In the teachings of the enemy, most of which are ripped out from stories, legends, and fruits of mental labor of the Ancient Egyptians, Greeks, Babylonians, Sumerians - everyone but jews, we have similar outlook into life that many conveniently deny. Life has meaning.

Above all, this is not your final life, and more than likely for those here, definitely NOT your first.

Most of these teachings, were taken so severely out of context, that when we awoke to the hoax of the enemy, many people relinquished the harmony and balance of "All things in moderation". Swinging as if we were insane, we lost the Middle Path or the path of Moderation.

The self, the outer world, the individual, the family, the Nation, other people's - etc., all of these can be made to exist in a harmony.

Regardless, the foolish LHP where most people are merely too weak for any of this, they hide themselves into a cave, and deny the outer world. They build a foolish religion of the lower consciousness around "Themselves" and call this a revolt against the "Right Hand Path" which is a path of relinquishing the self and becoming a mindless being.

Between the two, the LHP will look better to most people, but that doesn't make it correct. It still remains an unbalanced stated.

Anything I ever do honestly here, is only open up about my thoughts and journey so that those before or even those after may gain more from me. Temptations and foolishness such as "Focus only on yourself", "Abandon others and everyone", "Do not care for the weaker" and so on, are not for me.

You want to create a living torment out of yourself, filled with loneliness, deprivation, insanity, and other things like this, without "Problems" from others and so on? Adopt the Jewish "Left Hand Path" to the fullest extent, live like a fool, and die.

Additionally, other temptations include: "Hang yourself onto the cross for others, help indiscriminately and all people, be good and kind to all things in existence including human worms, remain defenseless, listen without thinking, give yourself to everyone" and other foolish RHP ideals.

Do you want to suicide, get enslaved by others, get crushed, and die a horrible death filled with fear, regret and turmoil? Apply the teachings of jesus above and you will be on your way.

Clearly, the path of life is neither above. Spiritual Satanism is the PATH OF LIFE. Not only the Path of Life, but it's the Path of the Life of the Serpent.

Your awakening and rising is in the middle path, the golden node and the spiral that will lead you to enlightenment. It rests nor on the left, nor on the right, but in the path of the Serpent, the Middle Pillar.

We will join the rank of the Gods as we enter closer into SAT. They want to welcome us there.

As we move into the path, we understand this: This is the path where we originally belonged, the point of our destined return. Satan is our secret deepest love and deepest aspiration, and when we walk in Truth, our steps more and more certain.

HAIL SATAN!!!!
