

The Obesity Epidemic in the West

Speaking of epidemics and pandemics and all this, one major epidemic malfunction of the human body has been left unaddressed in the West and that is obesity.

It has gone completely out of control for decades, costing the lives and quality of life of millions, yet nobody really cares.

Obesity is an illness, in the same way anorexia can be one. We are not talking chubby here and being even fat, we are talking about being obese to the point one has health problems or it can cause fatality.

The West claims it has a spiritual thing called "Christianity" but as it appears the main religion of the Westerners currently is only cheeseburgers.

It is an illness of spirit and the soul first, and then these disorganized energies manifest in the body through overt consumption of what is negative and causes this result. For people to reach these extents, life has to be empty, and the brain must be truly depressed.

One cannot reasonably reach amounts like 1000 lbs. and reach this point while they have been ok. Many people are allowed to get into this without any support and they merely destroy themselves. To cover this up, we say some random Western bullshit like "Muh Free Will" to cover out this spiritual deficiency that is eating people's soul bit by bit.

To end up like this one exercises literally the opposite of any free will. One is a slave to certain false pleasures that degrade a person. Free will is the opposite of this. Regardless, we have been confused about free will and this claim is only used when people want to do either irrelevant or bad stuff.

The obesity epidemic is a reflection of the epidemic of imbalanced energies in the West.

To give an extent of how crazy some people have become, I have watched a documentary years ago where a person had a child, that was about 12 years old and morbidly obese. The child was asleep most of the day, and then they woke up to eat about 5 whole chickens.

The mother refused to stop its intake even after the doctors explained that the child was at high risk for heart attack. Remaining obese, the heart couldn't hold and the poor child died within a year or so. While that doesn't register as murder, it is something very close to this.

Needless to say this situation reflects upon us all collectively in what type of monsters certain people have become, gulping things down to the point we fall into a semi-asleep state half their lifetime from eating too much.

Everyone is clearly advised as a Spiritual Satanist to find the courage to escape this scourge. Do not be ashamed. There are even Gods who will help you with this.

It is almost guaranteed if you have problems with depression, lethargy or other issues and that you are obese, these can come from obesity and nothing else. Your immune system and other aspects of yourself suffer pointlessly over this.

It is all reversible, and there are ways to reverse this one step at a time. Even keeping this on the "very chubby" level, can keep you healthy and sane. Obesity should be seen as an illness, not merely as a state of the body. The organs literally suffer in this state.

Anorexia, the other latter end of this can cause also considerable and rather similar issues. Lethargy, flying in and out of sleep randomly, being too weak to do anything etc.

From a metaphysical standpoint the obesity epidemic not only points to a totally false lifestyle, but a lifestyle that is literally engrossed in the material and related to the material in such a way that it's dysfunctional.

If one is older than let's say 50 or 60 that is far more acceptable as one might not have the time to deal with this, but please, especially if you are young, take this in consideration and act now. Relatives and others might be living in denial of this, I know, and how this occurs can be seen in shows such as this:

"1000-lb Sisters Season 3 Episode 8 - A Very Slaton Vacation"

I don't have time to watch this, but skimming through, these images are simply disastrous. Anyhow it seems that these people are trying to get better and that's a good message to push.

These are people that had their lives ruined and nobody told them to stop anything. They engrossed themselves in too much Jupiter, and yes, Jupiter energy can be deadly.

They must somehow have enjoyed reaching that state in a pathological way, but like hard drugs and other false enjoyments that come without measure, death or getting permanently disfigured or disabled can be the only outcome.

As we can see from this video even these situations ARE reversible, so don't lose hope. Meditations can be used to also affect this and many people have used meditation for weight loss and optimizing the body, and they have worked.

The United States now is to where child obesity is literally killing people. Yet all you'll see on TV is nonsense about the Co-Vid and other total crap. Nobody that would be fit and has a decent health would die from Co-Vid or these things if people were healthier.

Of course, if one is at this state, anything can spell their death really quickly, including a simple coronavirus.

However, big pharma wants you in a condition where your exploitation is at a maximum from them. Doctors pretend like nothing of this is beyond the realm of normal, but that is totally insane. Protect yourself and others from these scourges and even if necessary, become evil if certain people do not listen.

However, be careful as many people in this condition can be emotionally sensitive and take hard corrections and internalize them, accelerating their negative condition. Please do take efforts to maintain optimal weight, these are what real epidemics look like, but nobody cares anymore.

Remember that Spiritual Satanism is about balance. You don't have to become like Arnold Schwarzenegger, although that would teach someone a lot of discipline and empower them. But as an SS one must understand the value of health and so on.

Crazy people tell you today that this is "Authoritarian" to tell other people, but what they do allowing people to get so fat their hearts explode is utterly parasitic and evil. That is careless. It's a sign of inner decadence to not care for anyone else to such high extent, that you literally see them approaching 1000 lbs and you don't tell them they must seek help.

We live in a crazy world where certain people want to turn you into a pod living, brainchip wearing, landwhale that weighs 1000 lbs so they can feed off of you and sell your stories in shows. Do not allow this to happen.

They tell people that's even the path to "pleasure" and that this is great, but in reality, these people suffer tremendously, and to such extents they can no longer understand. They are lying to everyone. Do not fall for this.

Clownworld must not consume any of us. Likewise, we cannot afford to be consumed by the Clownworld.
