

Have To Say The Truth: I Am NOT Sorry

Over the years I understand that certain things one says might come opposed with almost everything in a world where almost everything is a lie.

It's painful sometimes to see that almost "everything" that we think we know, is built on a castle of sand. As knowledge and understanding expands, we get a better understanding of this.

The reality of the world is that most of it is based on tragic and very extensive lies.

Most of us and human beings in general start from a point of extreme emotional immaturity, confusion, blindness, then before anything sets in, we have forced in our minds too many lies from all sides, more than anyone cares if we can handle or not.

This is created systematically by those who want to keep everyone blind instead of giving them the light of knowledge and understanding.

Naturally, false convictions, delusions and falsehood set strongly in one's life. People hate what they "fear", such as is the case of Satan. Yet, all of this is done based on lies.

It's crazy enough to consider that our populations worldwide have been PROGRAMMED to hate Satya, Satyan or Satan, or Sat [or whatever you want to choose] which is a word that we know, relates to the Truth.

Soon, I will also share more groundbreaking evidence in regards to how the program to hate "Satan" from the enemy is the worst and most miserable mistake in recent Human history.

We were born and bred to be Truth haters by definition. The way to achieve this end was only through belief in hoaxes and false convictions that have no value in them, and with sheer emotional immaturity to follow this gravely mistaken path.

Most of these convictions present themselves also in cultural mind-washing. There are people for example who will sit down and curse me everyday to no end just because someone agitated them, or because I am a Satanist.

In their language, they call this "praying to jeboo" or "allah" or "jehovah", to, you know, deal with "evil", such as the evil that they "believe" we represent here.

Little do their shrunken brains understand that in the assembly of the higher entities and the Gods, they are committing a grave crime and offense.

Above all, they destroy themselves by following the path of falsehood, and therefore, there is nothing else I need to do but watch their slow decay.

When they find out that 'God' does nothing but empower me and help me or all of us, then they question themselves and their convictions.

Denial reaches extents so high that the most obvious lies such as that the recent programs of popular control, are "Truth", while eternal and universal understandings of the past are "false", as in, their own Ancestral Gods whose pottery and tablets really are beneath their own soil.

These people believe in power only, and not "God". These bogus systems of mindwashing have power now, so they "believe" in them. They have no judgement, and they are completely disconnected from anything that has to do with "God" as a notion.

Is "God" truly with them, or are the creators and maintainers of this world, or the "God" as they call it, closer aligned and in tune with us instead?

Who has penetrated into the wisdom of the universal consciousness or what we call 'God' further, us or them?

The average hateful Muslim, Christian, or bitter robbing Jew, is so disconnected from 'God' and anything related to the Divine, that only if they knew how much disconnected they are, they would desert their falsehood immediately.

Yet the reality is that most people who loudly preach about this 'God', seldom care to use anything of the term except when it is to justify crimes, certain dietary laws, or other fake cultural nonsense to keep Jewish Abrahamism going.

They have read that the context of our beliefs is great, they know it's sound, and True, but their "Convictions" in jewish lying and their programmed minds tell them otherwise.

Unfortunately, the above is not enough to solicit the Gods or higher entities to do your nefarious bidding on me or anyone else.

Too many people live on lies, disregarding reality, or hardly looking for any fact or truth in anything. Not saying here an ultimate Truth or whatever, we are talking about just basic things.

We are not these people, we are those that go against these evil authorities of falsehood that tell us to look into nothing.

On one hand I am sorry if certain things come into some sort of negative wall or reaction from anyone. That is almost at all times not intended. But it's also rather unavoidable.

It does not feel great when this is towards SS in particular at all.

The more the Gods help me advance too, I have found oftentimes it's done in a great manner, yet at other times where the self's own denial is too high, it can clash and cause a reaction. I also had awakening calls from others who are worthy of respect and know what they are talking about.

There is no learning, understanding, growth or empowerment that arrives or can happen without this friction or reaction to the Truth.

If I hurt anyone's feelings I am not sorry. I cannot say the Truth and not hurt at least someone's feelings, and it is also regular that by saying it I hurt mine too.

It has to happen.

However, if there is something one does not understand, or I might have caused a misunderstanding, feel free to relate this. We are trying our earnest as a community to grow and expand into always better ways of dealing with all matters.

The degree of hurting here will range: certain people will say that this is awesome, as they rate awakening and Truth higher than fiction. Others might choose fiction or might decide they do not want to use their mind to think, and this can cause serious problems.

Past a point, we enjoy it and we thirst for this. As a sick body that is given medicine will have a bad reaction, then the reaction subsides and we have love of health and wisdom that starts to be created in our soul.

As we heal, the pain from understanding lessens. Then, what others call as "pain" is the bestowal of more strength. Then afterwards, pain instead is simply to have to go further in ignorance.

Even in all cases, it's important to know in advance. Life isn't really fair in this matter. Better to know as many Truths as possible than not in life.

I have to say it how it is, or at least, in the way most close to the Truth as currently understood. We all walk towards this and to do otherwise would be bad.

I have to do this service to the Gods instead of lying to appease emotions. I respect in the highest manner the real emotions of our own, and the enemy's I do not, although I care about mankind as a whole.

The amount of cost for saying the Truth versus not saying is already too high, and I consciously have accepted the outcome of this rather than the latter of false lies.

As the lies certainly would "be better" for everyone "short term", the Truth will save someone's soul and that of others "long term".

Our world has taken a wrong turn, I am not in it. I reject the lies. Yet I have to face them as all of you have here to do.

Some people ask what difference does it make, when you have gorillions of people doing it wrong or lying. It doesn't matter.

Sometimes we have to mind ourselves and our own, and then whomever wants to remain in the Matrix will pay their consequences.

We just have to stay on the correct path and do our earnest to ask for the Truth as much as possible, with true heart and bravery.

I will not lie about the Gods for just the comfort of not being attacked by their blind "enemies", I will not lie constantly and without an end about our past or my own culture or that of other Gentiles because the popular narrative wants it, nor I am willing to succumb and submit to a life that is rife with lying to anyone about our potential origins.

I write "enemies" as the Gods cannot really have "enemies" that are equal to them, humans are so outsized they have no idea. They just have blind zealots that act against them that cannot harm them whatsoever. Humans harm THEMSELVES by engaging in this action.

Since they can harm their followers however, or other incarnated souls that come from them, we have to wage a defensive war of retaliation against them, only so that we have to survive and move spiritually upwards, in a world where many have decided to go spiritually downwards.

Bitter locked souls in lower dimensions who have rejected for themselves to be brought up to the higher lights, and are sitting there in their own created suffering because they made a wrongly informed choice to follow the enemy for temporary conveniences here, which are not even the case.

The enemy is an abuser by nature and any said "conveniences" they offer are not real. The convenience of lies from their dogma for example, causes pain and misery in untold extents. It does not absolve the "suffering" that it promises, but only prolongs it for humanity.

I refuse to close my mind completely just because this world demands to keep a large jewish propaganda show going.

Yes, I am also aware there are threats against "Those that resist", but not everyone was made to join your borg. I am not sorry.

Lastly, it's hilarious how the threat for all of this is too high; to just mention the obvious in many ways, you have to be like Galileo.

In the place of Galileo, one today is punished not for the earth's roundness, but over the fact to not believe in hoaxes instated by the popular "Trilateral Commission" of the Jewish religious systems of Islam, Judaism and Christianity.

The audacity of modern jews is even worse, and getting worse by the day. Their insolence and expressed abominations are increasing and increasing, an eventful and necessary event that must take place before they crash themselves.

The fact that these have posed as "God" means nothing to me, for I have seen the ways of 'God' or the universal consciousness they so falsely misrepresent.

Lucifer as my Guide and my God has shown me the Light of the universe, and as He is Satan, he showed me the primordial darkness of birth and creation.

What has their "God" shown them?

As a closing note, only by knowing the Truth we gain any power, wisdom, understanding, and yes, peace and real lasting blessings.

One must choose the path of the Truth and try to cling on it with all your love and existence, and just deny the dogma of the enemy who tries to keep you blind, and you will eventually see the light of the Truth.

Yet they also lie to you that this is easy: It is not easy, and the rewarding part about it is that we struggle and gain power as we try to rise higher to it. It is definitely attainable, and only if you take the effort step by step and you are focused and patient.

Follow the path of balance between humility and of great self empowerment, supply this with true learning and meditation, and you will arrive to your final destination as the Gods have ordained for human beings.

Keep walking in the Middle Path, and you will rise higher and higher until you see the light.
