

When Will This All End?

HP Hooded Cobra 666

November 29, 2021

A common question in regards to the enemy is where this "ends".

I will relate to you the reality of the situation. The average "Gentile" is on a tremendously lower level than any Jew. Even the dumbest Jew you see, does the equivalent of their own daily rituals or prayers.

The Jew, despite of being a shit reptile hybrid, was actually busy applying at least some basic racial laws, and some spiritual laws. Gentiles were busy the last centuries doing nothing at all of the sort.

The average "goyim" is on the level that Jews explain goyim means, it means unspiritual animal. They managed to push the overwhelming majority of humanity on that level, and the butchery they did to all the advanced people and their families in the past, brought about this end.

The average person is nowhere close to the average "Jew". For now, at least.

The only hope for Gentiles is the people here, who will abide to what we are all here to do by the end, and walk the path to the end. That is a fast track path, and necessary for the situation we are undergoing.

Many "Gentiles" are uneducated, lazy, weak, and don't bother to do anything in life. I wouldn't comment on more lost situations, I'll just leave it at that. Everyone here can see every day when you go outside, most probably.

As if this was not enough, many are also militant and against other Gentiles who try to do the good thing, are adamant in protecting the Jew, and other issues.

The fact that many people here don't understand how power works or how cycles work [some wise members do, and others who aren't wise at least listen] shows how little understanding Gentiles have of this overall situation.

The chances of victory against the Jews were very thin, I will tell you this much. Now, we are making efforts, and the whole thing is turning around, steadily, slowly, but certainly.

The enemy has been running "things" down here solidly for at least 5 centuries, after the confounding of their first Rothschild bank. Way before this, they harassed even the Roman Empire and brought about its collapse. That is the reality. This extends far further than this, but totalitarian control is something they had globally for a long time.

Confronting reality is the only necessary thing now. Having talked with the Gods extensively on the subject, this whole thing will take time.

Poor knowledge of astrology leads to many false deductions, and also lack of knowledge of the enemy leads to wrong conclusions. An example is how people think that the situation with the enemy "worsened" in these last years, and that it was "better" before. In fact, before now, it was way way worse. The difference now is that everything is more open.

It took until the 80's and 90's that the Gods of the "Goyim" even started getting promoted in anyway in the public sphere. Regardless of how the situation looks to some people who have no historical perspective, the situation is going better, not worse. The most basic occult knowledge was hidden behind paywalls until the birth of the internet.

You couldn't find one page of the JoS that had any proper information in the 90's. For all intents, everyone was totally BLIND spiritually in the West.

Despite of the "West" and its "Achievements", and for every "Westerner" to come to me now and to pretend to me that they are a super spiritualist.

A global awakening is happening since, but it's gradual, it will take steps. It also doesn't come without a certain cost. Yet, the ultimate price to pay for not awakening at the enemy's pace and how much power they have accumulated, is certain DEATH.

Additionally, many people are scared. The enemy is showing their teeth now. If you think however that what happens now is very serious, maybe you didn't see 2001 when just a handful of jews and Bush rallied the US into war in the Middle East, with Bush's approval rating at a 7%.

A lot of the things people see now, have been declared by "Conspiracy Theorists" and other people who value freedom before. From the 90's, that was the case. The average person was busy being ignorant, and the enemy was raping everything left and right. Nobody could be informed otherwise, and the few channels of information that existed, were restricted.

Yes, of course, many are looking at the burning trees in front of us now, but before this, it was worse. Objectively, nothing was "better" before, or as good as it is now. And that's why the enemy is doing major reactions.

Like with parasites in nature, they flare up when they are confronted.

Only now this is starting to be contested in any way. Of course, we are far from a coherent worldwide solution, but things are getting to the final destination for the enemy.

The last contest of this was in Hitler's time but this was regional; now, it's getting global. Even in Hitler's time, jews had so much power that they rallied the whole planet at the time against Hitler.

Do not be surprised that now they can force vaccinations upon you or anything like this. People who think in these terms are not looking at the greater perspective of things.

When the Renaissance started happening, the church and their sell out "kings" to court jews, made their best to fire back. The death penalty, expulsions, and many other things that would cause people who think Co-Vid testing is something major now, happened on a daily basis.

Even less people understand what the RTR's are here to do despite explanations. Much of this comes because most people are not spiritually open and/or not as advanced yet. Even fewer people know what happened a decade ago. These rituals are integral into twisting and collapsing the enemy's energy structure. If these aren't done, you cannot expect anything.

The worst outcome of this [it was planned decades back, even if you watch David Icke's videos] was that everyone would be now 95% controlled by the enemy. People cry while we have arguably one in two people against them, and don't appreciate this fact.

This doesn't come from realistic views on the situation but rather poor fatigue which is common in many modern people that experience quick meltdowns. The enemy is actually collapsing in a fast rate, and that's why all of this sham had to happen to create more force.

For those who know astrology, go look now where Saturn is at the Heavens, and tell me if this isn't evident by itself that things like that would happen. Saturn is in Aquarius [Satan's Sign] and now all of humanity's freedoms are contested and burned worldwide.

Many do not know how to understand or accept fate. Also, all this move that you see now, was planned at least 10 years ago. Without getting into details, yes, many of our own who are advanced have foreseen this.

The future rituals that will come will be more extensive, and we will gradually shift focus from the FRTR into other Rituals, after the enemy is sufficiently collapsed or considerably weakened. That is going to take a while, but new releases will explain on their own how things will happen.

It is not going to work otherwise. Many people are also deluded into thinking that since you meditate 3 years, you now are on top of everything, yet you don't pay attention to reality, which I have to unfortunately remind people.

Regardless, because many people here are evolved Souls from Satan, and have done a lot of work, they can still pull up considerable power and have natural talent. Others are insistent, and so on. Therefore, everyone stands a chance.

I am not sure where we would be now if we haven't done anything for the years prior to this. You see that the enemy has even prepared FEMA types of camps. And yes, they will continue as they have planned in the last decade. And no, nonsense from people who have no clue is not going to affect them.

As a final note, this doesn't stop where people's emotions or knowledge stops. Yes, it might be tiring. In fact, the enemy might be even more tired to see that after centuries of uncontested control, they still can't put a syringe up a goy's ass without their consent. The enemy is losing for more than anyone here or otherwise is losing, and that should be celebrated.

Understandably, observing what is going on, many of us are in a rush. Being in a rush or not, things move on their own speed. There is only that much a person can accelerate.

No, we cannot save everyone and everything that has decided to bend the knee to the Jew. Forget about this for the time being. The situation is leading to crash on the wall on a fully accelerated vehicle. We can turn the wheel and throw this in the sea, so hopefully people can get out, but the vehicle, even if the brakes are pressed to the maximum, will not stop.

The above is the product of aeons of ignorance, caused by the enemy. Everyone here has to deal with this, if we want to change things.

Many aren't aware of the plans of the Gods or how the Gods see and plan things. This leads many to pointless worry. Tune into them and you will see what I mean here, but tune on a calm day without astral bullshit and traffic.

Everything will be OK in the end, but we must have expectations that are connected to reality.

In fact, we want to affect reality for now, not compare a reality to false standards that don't exist. Yes, the Temple of Delphi is in ruins and it's not getting reconstructed in January 2022. Nobody in the universe that understands things correctly would also have these types of expectations.

Lastly, focus on YOURSELVES first and ADVANCING. The world will do what it will do. If you remain not advanced and whine all day that things haven't fixed in 2-3 years, nothing will get better. The Gods have expectations from people here too. As you mature up and meditate, your integral purpose in all this will be understood.

The Gods and we collectively are to remain optimistic, as we have been doing great. We can do continuously better. Continuing upon the same path and pattern, there is a light in the end of the road. Everyone, just do your best, remain optimistic, and focus on bettering yourselves and your lives with advancement.

All will be fine in the end.