

Black Sabbath

The Jews write in their own texts that Saturday is the day for cursing and connecting with and sending thoughtforms against the Gentile enemy. Saturn is the day for cursing in Judaism. What do you think they are doing in their Synagogues on Saturday on their Sabbath? They are reciting the numerous curses against Gentiles in their Torah, which is Jewish witchcraft. This is why the Roman and Greek rulers banned the Jews from reciting the Torah and burned the Torah scrolls. This was when Gentiles still had spiritual knowledge and knew what the Torah was, which is why the Jews invented Christianity and Islam to remove spiritual knowledge from the Gentiles and yoke them to the Jewish agenda.

The mainstay of Jewish magic is very simple. The Jewish magician connects with the matrix of energy the Jews have created, which is YHWH. They command it by using different methods that involve using the 72 names or other Hebrew names of power along with talismans and other methods to then direct the energy of their matrix to accomplish what the Jewish black magician wants. The Gentiles are the ones paying for them to do this because they are infusing this energy matrix for the Jews to do this via Christianity and Islam. YHWH is a large matrix of energy that is like a vampire to the Gentiles connected into it.

The most important ritual device in Judaism is the Tefillin.

The Tefillin the Jews wear is a method of binding them into and connecting into the Jewish matrix of energy to infuse this and direct it. They bind one on the arm with seven straps, the number of Saturn, and the Tefillin is made to represent the black cube of Saturn and is infused with Jewish prayer scrolls in Hebrew that are inserted into the Tefillin. The Hebrew letters are charged as talismans, as the Rabbis mention, to connect with and bring the energy of their thoughtform YHWH into the material from the astral. The main prayer contained within the Tefillin is the Sh'ma prayer which binds the Jews to their thoughtform, making them one. The two Tefillin boxes and how they are worn are based on the ten worlds in Kabbalah, which represents how "God" created using the ten statements of creation, which is in Genesis. The cube worn on the head is design to connect into the Ajna chakra which in Kabbalah is shown as the letter Vav and relates to the sixth day of creation. Six is the number of manifesting things into the material world. The Ajna is the "Command Wheel" in Hinduism from which most of the Kabbalah is stolen and corrupted from. The Ajna is called the Mind Chakra, hence Command Wheel. It is the conscious will to direct and program the energy of a ritual working.

Jew wearing the Tefillin:

The Hebrew letter “shin”, with the four prongs, placed on the box worn on the head is symbolic of the brain in Kabbalah. Shin represents the upper three worlds on the tree. Fire is also the element of creation and related to the mind, as people create first with the mind. This all relates to the magician using their mind to direct and program the energy. Not to a man in the sky.

The Tefillin is worn on the left arm, which is the female side in Kabbalah, Shekinah on the tree, and relates to spiritual power while the head is the mind that directs the power. The Jews stole the Yeshiva from Shiva and Shakti, the concepts of the intellect of the mind and God and Shekinah. The arm and the hand are also symbolic of the spine in Judaism, the Shakti power that is lead up the spine and directed out the third eye to accomplish workings. In the east Shiva directs fire out the third eye to bring things to action. Shin is stolen from a Sanskrit letter and is the fire element in Hinduism. The seven straps are the lower seven worlds, which are the chakras along the spine in Kabbalah. The other box is the other three worlds, which relate to the trine parts of the brain. Chokmah is the right side of the brain, Binah is the left, and Kether the optic thalamus, which is shown as the Eye of Ra in Egypt.

The Jews also perform the practice of "doving" while wearing the Tefillin. The Jews rock back and forth and side to side while praying to activate Shakti energy at the base of the spine and bring it up to the head. They call this copulating with the Shekinah for this reason. This also exists in the east. There are whole Kabbalah texts full of Yogic postures, breathing techniques, and mudras, all stolen from the east.

The Jews even stole the Tefillin from the east. It is still worn by Shinto Priests in their rituals in Japan. It is called the "square inch" in Hinduism, which relates to the third eye, which is about the size of the Tefillin worn on the head.

The enemy has also created a materialistic world system where physical money has become the artificial energy system that controls the planet. By building an artificial social order based on wealth and nothing else, this allows the Jews to stay in control and own the Gentiles. Everything the Jews have created socially is based on the consciousness of the lower octave of the planet Saturn. The same way the Jews run their criminal international banking system is how they run their matrix of energy YHWH. Vampirism.
