

About Relating to Pagans - You Are All Welcome Here

HP Hooded Cobra 666

October 30, 2021

People who are already Pagans and already follow the Gods, there is no need to do anything as they are already on the path.

The path towards the Gods is however a long one, has levels of seriousness to it, depending on what a soul is at the level of being able to do or seeking.

For SS who do outreach to Pagans, do kindly advertise to them and show them the websites, in case they want to get initiated and move further in this chosen path. Maybe they will get more out of this. This may come years later, when some of them feel ready.

There are a few Pagans who may return false scorn due to emotional reactions. That is also fine. In the future everything will be obvious as unfortunately now the enemy is trying to submerge us here in lies. But this time is coming to an end.

As Satan has stated before, and Beelzebul, the Pagans are under the Gods too. Given the situation, the Gods do prioritize the people who are very serious about them such as the JoS, and the JoS is the frontline.

Expectations towards Pagan people must be adopted. Do not act cocky and aggressive to them, because this shows poor quality. They expect things out of us.

Not all Pagans will want to join the JoS, but all of our people must again be progressively returned back to being in the very least Pagans or if they are atheists or non-practicing/non-believers, in a state where at least the usefulness of the spiritual is understood by them.

Pagans and those of the general population that are Pagan, should be seen as people on the right path. If anything, they might have already knowledge they follow, more or less correct. As the Gods judge some are to move further, they might move them here.

They must not be treated as enemies in any way, unless they openly oppose us. Likewise, no Pagan group will have any interest to attack us at all, since all we do is promote everything in the best manner possible.

Quite a few Pagans are doing the RTRs and participate in our mass rituals, which I have been mailed about, and they are doing the correct thing for the people of this world and their own people too. That is extremely important.

I do agree that the wording in the original post of the poster might have been wrong. Infiltration is a term to use when the situation concerns an enemy. Pagans and people who are already into this, albeit not on the JoS level and maybe having less knowledge or practical knowledge, are friends and allies until proven otherwise.

Therefore, I write this reply to expand on this. Pagan people who already follow the Gods are already on our side, and the levels at which people will want to serve is their own choice and comes down to their own enlightenment or specific needs.

We should be fine with people who merely want to worship the Gods, or simply do want to cleave to the Gods for psychological or philosophical reasons. We just have to also keep the gate open for those who want to really meet them and move further than this.

Everyone here should be aware, that Joy of Satan level of spiritual application may NOT be for all people. Not everyone is ready. If one is ready then one will be unusually interested in this.

Because of too many lies, it takes a strong amount of bravery right now to approach the Gods even if the context can be weird or seemingly "dark".

People who are friendly to the Gods and open to them are friendly to us too, so everyone is to treat them positively and instruct them as much as we can.

-High Priest Hooded Cobra 666

Reply from Shadowcat:

Our wording also matters. I just rectified with heathens of Gab and they too were misled by this. A lot are confused as to the terms used in our online campaigns for spreading information such as "infiltrate" and the like. I understand the infiltrate part goes for xtian groups and others run by the enemy but coming into pagan groups and other spheres like this can come off the wrong way to them. here below it is explained why they have been thrown off. Perhaps better wording on our part in the future? We do not want to give our Fellow whites and other potential people who Satan wants to come to Him the wrong impression that they will be attacked in any manner. please feel free to give input on this everyone. Thanks.

The screenshot shows a social media thread on a platform with a search bar at the top containing the text "or groups on Gab". Navigation icons for Home, Explore, News, and a profile icon are visible. The thread consists of four posts:

- Erik Ishjarta (@SkuggiNatsoz) · Heathens of Gab · 2 likes · 7m
@Gemini_Morrigan @Firehazard666 it's a situation that leaves me in a state of confusion. On one hand they seem to be Pagan, or have Pagan concepts. But the use of "Satan", and the "cloaked" (hehe) operation strike me as odd, especially concerning us as a targeted group. We are White here. We follow White Gods. What's to infiltrate?

I'd like to hear their side of it before we draw definite conclusions. The main reason i even mentioned their names is due to their wording, "warfare".
- Gemini_Morrigan (@Gemini_Morrigan) · Heathens of Gab · 1 like · 6m
@SkuggiNatsoz @Firehazard666 lol, yes, wording matters 😊
- Erik Ishjarta (@SkuggiNatsoz) · Heathens of Gab · 2m
@Gemini_Morrigan @Firehazard666 it truly does. If they hadn't listed us on a "warfare" forum post, most of us wouldn't have cared (unless they started throwing around semitic bs). You don't have to infiltrate or subvert healthy Folk, if you agree with them...
- Firehazard666 (@Firehazard666) · Heathens of Gab · 1 like · 2m
@SkuggiNatsoz @Gemini_Morrigan I will address this. Nothing is ment in the sense of negative sneaking in to overthrow. The infiltration part was for the majorly christian audience which is why gab is often targeted. WE go to the heathen groups because alot of our people here are generally more open to hearing about Our Gods and it is easier and more pleasant to converse with a heathen than a christian who will oftentimes not hear of it.

WE know there is alot of taboo and confusion as far as the word Satan. i hope these links clear up confusion. His name and who he is predates judaic filth for 1000s of years.