

About the Race Situation - Patience for Victory

Oftentimes, I am asked about the whole situation about Race, "Wen Race Awakening" and so on.

Actually, we want Global Awakening and then, after we are saved as a species, Race awakening will be a natural consequence of our elevated understanding. The enemy knows this, so they are trying to put this world in permanent darkness or cause a form of a global failure of civilization.

Other people will wake up too, and the Gods have designed this that way. Many have also lost their culture to the enemy Abrahamic programs, so advancement has been halted and we are only seeing the worst currently in history. We must understand that this will be temporary and that eventually, the Truth will prevail.

All races and people of this world, but also, all "types of races", are trying to advance and exist. This is life going forward. Life has to continue going forward, and life has to evolve. Even through the things we consider negative, we are actually "evolving".

Generally, I have to relate some background here because most people are literally living in wonderland or might have wrong understanding.

In 1912, Pluto was in Cancer. This causes racial and national awakening. It lasted to 1937, and shortly after this, the National Socialists, after having related to the planet the immortal knowledge of Race, they could not last longer.

Currently, none of the planets [yet] do resemble any said course.

Since, there have not been any major aspects to promote anything similar. Many people also do not understand that back then, Germany, England, France, Poland, all of these places, were like 99% White and 1% if this Jewish.

In simpler words, to "awake people to their Race" back then, required little effort. All one had to say was "Believe in your Nation", and the Race was already the Nation". People also didn't have stupid ideas and confusion as many "racialists" have today, i.e., any sub-races and so on were co-existing under the larger umbrella of the state.

By simply being a Nationalist, you already generally supported all your morals, laws, tenets, and your race, which was 99% of your own Nation, and people who were also quite similar to you or at least as similar as your civilization could continue.

There is a set level you have to be above which, that you can continue existing if you are on this. If you fall below, then this becomes a struggle. This was not even a question back then, the question later on became about quality of life, rather than a question of being pressed with the back on the wall.

Back then, the cultural cancer of Whites attacking Whites was persistent, so "Nationalism" also meant to go to war with your neighbors all the time, a practice that shed generations of blood for White people for literally no reason. This on the yearly shed the life of endless White people.

9.9 out of 10 times, these wars happened, like Ukraine and Russia, either because Jews being directly in power, or because they manipulated those in power.

But I digress, the central core race remained alive. Life went on.

To make people believe in the obvious reality of a race, or the importance of culture, you just had to point out to some easy to get values. You added "Minus jews" and it was all good. That's because the reality was already there, and things only needed to be shown.

In 1935, most European Nations and the US, were undisputed world powers. In other words, invasion from anywhere else did not exist as a reality. Now, this all has changed.

We now are lucky to have 50% of White people in many Nations, while others are holding higher like 85%, but the birthrate is tragically low. I.e., the Nations that are not already existing in a situation of many races, are slowly dying apart.

Germany, and many other Nations, are paper now when it comes to military power, or even the ability to protect their borders. As if this was not enough, people are confused on even the most basic things, such as if we need to protect our Nations or not, or if we should open up borders to die, and so on.

A confusion level that is that high, is not easily handled and does not sort itself out easily. It requires long-term thinking and rehabilitation.

Other things have changed too: China is a superpower, the Jews have the State of Israel, and the Jewish lobby is deeper than ever in our societies. If these were deep enough in Hitler's time, this time it's so deep this plague is holding the throats of all Nations and all States.

Currently, the Saturn is in Aquarius, and the global foundations of rights, caring about humanity, and everything Whites built to reassure a semblance of justice will exist in this world [other countries got light and evolved from this] is being removed. Actively and fast.

China has already become a Communist medical and financial dictatorship. If one watches the news, they lockdown towns over the pettiest of excuses of 50 or 100 cases of Co-Vid, brutalizing the populace and keeping them locked in as slaves with drones in their apartments. They might shut down electricity and other issues.

The above, are REAL issues. These issues are real and they are approaching here. Wise energy usage and understanding is necessary to avoid this major catastrophic erosion of our world.

We also have the other tools of the agenda. For example, now, genetic engineering is being attempted on the population and so on. The realities of this world are different than from back then. Most people and most males are sitting on a low level right now.

Do you think "Race" will mean a lot of the enemy removes all legal structures, and just takes any baby you make, and gives them some sort of DNA altering shots [they might say for Co-Vid] that will do who knows what to children?

It won't matter. So this is coming fast. It's actually approaching fast, and the battle for this is very close.

Do you want this to happen, or to spend 10 or 20 years trying to make up bimbos and retards to wake up from 80 years old mental manipulation by the jews, while most of these donkeys really just are stuck on "Muh Hitler" and other nonsense that is already 80 years behind them, and think a departed Hitler is the only issue in their life, besides of the fact they are all being slowly demographically killed and will be left in blacked out cities with syringes up their asses perpetually?

Back in Hitler's time, for small disputes, people were going out in the streets. What do you mean no electricity over the fake war of a jew? Out to the streets. What do you mean injecting our children with unknown bullshit over the flu? Out in the streets. What do you mean we will not have food and we will be genocided in our own land? Out in the streets.

Now nobody is doing this at all and those in power are laughing, as they preach to everyone to have electric cars and then telling them electricity is becoming scarce and that we simply are polluting because of too much electricity.

The level of retardation has reached dangerous levels in this generation.

People cared about their life a few decades back. And our people had a cultural similarity like never before, but also, were far more sensible. Currently, that is not the case whatsoever. We also kept global stability because of our own power, which grew many other Nations for Gentiles.

Now, about 100 years forward starting soon, Pluto is about to enter Aquarius. The knowledge of the Race will resurface through genetics, technology, or even AI. This might sound weird, but any AI would easily understand what I mean here. In contrast to lying humans, AI can easily understand humans are different, and it will also be easily able to decipher these differences in our genome. It will classify us like human beings were classified in the past, i.e., based on observable logic and so on.

The enemy tries to prevent this, because AI is literally hyper-realistic in its observations. It cannot be coerced emotionally into nonsense slogans that "We are all equal" and all this garbage, nor the other lies the Western People have been corn fed for over 70-80 years.

Now, to "Reverse" this, we generally have done Race Awakening Rituals. However, the situation currently is far worse with the enemy Great Reset Agenda. You or anyone else "waking up to their Race" looks like salt and pepper on a food that hardly exists at this point because it's being stolen.

In other words, the Western World and its values have to survive within the above context. If we fail, China will easily annex us or cause World War 3. We are not in 1920. Jews and other elements have advanced considerably.

If this happens, you can be "Racially aware" in your little Communist Pod of Klaus Schwab where you will be intravenously fed bugs with a brainchip and without a gender, or anywhere else.

For life to continue, the above agenda has to be dismantled and destroyed. All other fronts are now of a lesser importance. If a literal comet is coming on earth, to fight your own neighbor, is a waste of energy and time. Do it if you want, but we will not collectively do that.

The above is the reality of the situation. Unless we escape certain grips, we cannot turn this around. For example, if the internet is censored, or electricity is purposefully removed, WHERE will anyone find anything about "Race" or "Spirituality" to read?

Basically, nowhere. And how will they wake up? Do you truly and honestly think one white woman now married to a black somewhere, will just wake up one day and leave her Black husband, and their children, because she "just woke up" one day?

It does not work this way. This is not life. If this has occurred, these people must too be taught the Truth, so they can proceed however they can towards doing better decisions in the future. This is the realistic and actual approach. The world goes on forward in this very motion.

Magick acts and affects reality and is based on the realistic flows of what is possible. In other words, the enemy is trying to remove everything that could make this happen. So there are many people who are racially aware around, especially in Europe now. But what does that mean if everyone is censored and cannot even communicate?

Do you think you will have time to think about Race if a Nuclear WW3 starts happening, or if Russia invades further into Europe?

A world where you will beg for a portion of food or eat bugs, do you think this is a world that must be allowed to manifest or where you will be able to LARP around for your "Muh Race"?

Will you have time to read Muh Mein Kampf, or Muh Savitri Devi, or Muh JoS, if shells or rockets fall on your land, and you have to hide in holes because of this?

Can any real racial consciousness rise if none of this is prevented at all?

Therefore, I tell these people: Shed yourselves from stupidity. Look reality in the eyes. This is what it is for our people currently. Do your part in helping them and get out of the bed of the patient. The time for other things will come.

The question to you people is this: No, it has not worked.

That one is just aware in a prison, does not invalidate the prison. And the enemy's plans are literally this for all human beings. For anything to really evolve out of this, we have to reassure that humanity as a whole will skip this giant hole the enemy is creating, and then, we will have time to solve other matters such as these. To be frank, humanity is pressed on the corner and as a collective we cannot progress unless certain issues are addressed.

Lastly, the latest Rituals for the Demons [who are literal biological progenitors of the Aryans in more than one ways] reassure they will have their act. With how things have went, and how Godless and deprived humanity has become, contact with the divine forces has been cut. When this is cut, people become "Goyim" or literally animals in living form.

These animals have no recourse or understanding of any laws, be these laws of justice, or understanding about race. The very basic perception of these animals can be perverted, and they only care about food and the lower urges. They run everything into a disaster. Because people drop to this level, the Truth cannot stick to them, and they cannot evolve.

As one can also see, many problems are at an all time high. After this, they will start dropping and subsiding. But until then, we have to do what we have to do and this is from the Gods. The Gods can help us, but we are not making their job easy.

Lastly, in regards to those who live in a cave, do not understand any of the above, or still are living in wonderland, that is none of my business. The reason we exist is to execute things in behalf of the Gods to turn a boat around that was really forced down a waterfall that is as high as a mountain.

The above, requires in many cases not only strength, but a miracle. The Gods can work this miracle out. We must do what we have to do.

When I expressed many of these worries to Satan, he basically showed me that our species has existed for who knows how much time. In plain words, 1 year to handle death and life situations, will not extinct us. The same process of us doing this has happened again, and life has continued.

As this might sound insane, the same is mentioned in histories of the Yugas and the Hesiod's history. And our people are still here. In short, life will continue.

Here in too there is a final note, as many people just only now wake up to these things, and suddenly think they have it all solved out, which is also typical of rookies in magick and those in the lower domains of understanding, you must know that this is not like this.

There are times where certain things can be done, and times where they can never be done. You can try all day, and it will not happen. You can try for yourself and see if you will succeed or fail.

Finally, the Gods do not spend all the time denying life or the realities of this world. They work around these. They know the world will not become an "ideal place" until certain things are a reality first. And humanity has fucked up considerably, so it's not a straight line to make this happen.

The situation will be fine, but it requires patience, and diligence. Above all, it requires a global community of Gentiles who will do the spiritual work necessary to change all of this imbalance that has taken place in this world. This is being done.

These are the times and these are our challenges as a generation of Spiritual Satanists.

I agree. Also, my contention is that this will be a huge problem as the Pluto in Sagittarius generation comes of age and gains extreme influence. Xenophilia to unreasonable levels, selling out, complete excess including with gender ideology (mostly to the detriment of actual women) and dogmatism is a big staple of this generational cohort, all of which are total enemies of Cancerian concerns because Cancer does not see Sagittarius.

The cohort exhibits many of the sign's worst aspects compared with the last time of its transit when it inspired the Founding Fathers and deconstruction of the church (unfortunately even then, a lot of xian lunatics pushing the 'xian revivals' as well).

My concern about Pluto in Aquarius is that prior transit pushed the French Revolution to the fore, which had positive and negative manifestations, but nowadays I can see this going south very, very badly when directed against the "privileged" of these days.

Your concerns are really viable. Sagittarius however, is very important of a sign, and relates also to spiritual awakening. On the lower octave, it has to do with what you mention.

However, chances are, our religious forms will be completely redefined by this time, i.e., Spiritual Satanism might actually just look normal as the "religious" undertones of the past which are basically only slavery programs might collapse.

Pluto in Sagittarius generation is a group of religious and moral reformers, but there is a strong tendency to want to "escape" the cultural norms of the past. This generation is clearly leaving the odious programs of the enemy behind, but they are trying to push it on anyway, with the church "accepting" LGBT and while wanting to kill these people for centuries, for example.

They cannot stand the change that has manifested, so they will collapse. That is great.

Other more offshoots of this for example, random kids studying African studies on the universities on overwhelming extents, or "gender studies" and other nonsense which they literally pay endless amounts of money to. Then they sit there understanding this was all for nothing and a wasted 50,000$ to 250,000$ or something.

Jews are abusing humanity, and this is going to be paid in full price soon. So they attempt in general to bring everyone and in particular the Nations that can positively manifest this in a form of deserted land, or a patient that cannot move from the bed to exact revenge. They know what they are doing with all of this.

For example, France is very purposefully besieged. The same goes for Italy. England too. Older enemies like Greece are also besieged to the maximum. The United States is at full throttle. They know they have to do this in order to stop the manifestation of better forms of governance.

I agree, I think racial awareness is good, but currently not as high a priority as kicking out the Jews. As you've explained, what good is racial awareness if we all live in "Commiesburg".

I asked Satan about these unsettling things too (back before I knew I was talking to him) and he basically told me "don't worry about it". I understood that he meant I should be prepared for misfortune but not panic, because he and the Gods would protect me.

The Gods will protect all people from all Nations and any backgrounds [except the jews]. We are all under them. They told you correctly to not worry.
