

Initiation: Then and Now, Opening the Mind

Post by HP. Hoodedcobra666

Mon Dec 13, 2021 11:53 pm

This place was an asylum of insane people that didn't know what to expect over the years when "we" began. In HPS Maxine's starting times, it was even weirder.

Those of you who have been here for 10+ years, know what I am talking about, those of 20+, you know even better.

The major part of my work was to establish a consensus of understanding: what to expect, how to get to your desires, what to do, where to go, how you relate to the Gods, where are they, how to reach them, how to get there.

Where there is now "How", there is also no way. The problem is that to discover any how, you need to actually practice this path very seriously. Back then, I had known no "how" at all. The only thing I knew close to a "How" was something close to the sound of the word "Chaos".

I will give you a typical stupid example of what all these false preconceptions, in mind [and therefore in magick] would mean in this definition, and why I have to play the asshole [or rather, the bridge] over here to show you some things that our parents should have taught us all in a proper Ancient or other civilization.

Years ago, there was an old HP who was named Salem, who was a very powerful [spiritually] person. Salem long story short was outspoken, and decided one day to flex his magical abilities in front of a youtube crowd, saying he would do a ritual to win the lottery two days from the days that he declared it.

Salem actually won this lottery [for 10,000$] and this somehow became an urban legend for people on the Yahoo Group at the time [circa something 2006], celebrating this as a major success. Salem was the type of person based on his chart too that had what we describe as "raw power", spiritually speaking.

Needless to say, the above, even if it proves that he was spiritually powerful [had had done a lot], and even would be considered a miracle by many, is only half a miracle.

Later on he did some really self destructive nonsense that cost him everything such as crystal meth, despite of being told by anyone and everyone that it would lead to the end. Power yes, mind zero.

Salem basically ruined himself, later on losing his mind completely. Eventually too, he lost his sanity, and shortly after, he lost his position on the JoS and ruined himself.

Salem wasn't of the lucky generation of people that had all their mentality ironed over a decade by an asshole of my calibre, and therefore, his mentality remained loose like a ship that had holes plucked in it. In other words, there was no open path. We were opening the street back then and this was like working on a mine and trying to open it, which is dangerous and might incur casualties.

Most of these "Casualties" were basically due to enemy curses, lies, detestable nonsense by the kikes, and other foul fake "knowledge". Much of this, and since people haven't known any better, was heavily influenced by the nonsense of Crowley and other lost spirits, that merely did whatever nonsense they could do for a shocking effect.

What I learned from him watching silently from the sidelines as a younger "apprentice" in the JoS, was that actually the warnings of all the Ancients in regards to advancement of the mind and so on, were the most important foundation of building anything else. Salem flew up to the sky, but he forgot to have a parachute or a functional plane.

The spiritual bodies and levels of consciousness, are built in this way, and there is no avoiding "reality" or what we might consider "lower" aspects. People who refuse to look into this and meddle with spirituality, will merely end up delusional.

You cannot escape this reality.

You cannot change this.

You can only follow this and follow a path towards success. Or follow it downwards to failure.

Needless to say, all this influence, help, support, stability, keeping everything afloat, is not something people who consider spectacles like winning a lottery as "miraculous". In this sense, I put the two types of mentalities in contrast. This is like the crowd applauding a drunkard for doing too many pull-ups.

Rather, I would like to show to people how you can do more pullups in a normal way, and even more so, permanently and without the drunkenness. The aim is the creation of a REAL sight to behold, and a REAL spectacle.

I am totally aware this will not be as recognizable as other approaches. Regardless, that's what everyone needs and one has to do what people need and what is desired by the Gods. This Will has to be followed or there will be no advancement.

Without doing this necessary [and rather damp for me] work, few people will be able to reach any higher. If they do, we might lose them like we lost Salem and other people. Jews are literally laughing on this, not just "laughing", but literally rolling on their chairs that the Goy considers any of this "spiritual" or an "attainment".

The real Spiritual Satanic Philosophical path, is what leads to Godhead, not to these subjects. Jews knowing this, they hate it and attempted to extinct it from the earth.

We cannot afford anymore lies to ourselves, the reason why, look at the world around us all and where this fall of the Gentile people has led everyone and everything. The rest will swim in delusions perpetually, and possibly lose too much valuable time.

These people who want to be deluded can join other places to experience literally zero results and zero outcomes, it doesn't matter. If a specific segment of people here stick with the plan, we will have given birth to what Satan has intended, sooner or later.

I know I lost too many years in the beginning of this trying to figure all this nonsense arranged by others out. The Jew also laced the way for any Gentile that wanted to advance, with poisonous traps of death, destruction, stupidity and many other issues.

Modern "Satanism" which is owned by these jews, notably follows upon this same pattern. That is the reason why we stand opposed to all of this.

Now, if we go into the Ancient Past, that type of nonsense such as above didn't happen. For one, you spent 5 years doing all sorts of other things to rectify and control the mind. Here, the average person that arrives, does none of this, and proceeds to do elemental invocation, or some other shit I don't know.

Initiates went through so many things that most people here couldn't even fathom.

HPS Maxine told me many years ago something I didn't like either. She told me that in Tibet, they get you as your first lesson to clean things with a toothbrush [bathrooms etc.] to really burst your fake ego destroyed before you can advance in anything. The "modern" spirit cannot take half of this.

The good news is that if you only adapt 10% of what these old people did, you will be x10 times stronger the average person nowadays. The bad news is, the amount of people who want to do any of this is scarce and little. "Ain't nobody got time fo 'dat".

I am here to steer you away from the mistake that you think is the "Modern" spirit. By modern spirit, we can relate to the false sense of relating to the world that is pervasive all over the West, largely dominated by a false "Easy come easy go" thinking.

Away from the quickness, the lack of depth, the lesser understanding of an ant, the proliferation of stupidity, the false sense of strength where you have none, and many other unlikeable aspects, since these do not in anyway coincide with becoming a God.

The moment you start and join Satanism, you need to really start working on this mind. Finding out your problems, meditating, trying to understand yourself, and correcting everything. Setting goals and going after them, moving away from the loophole of perpetual damnation that encompasses many beings.

Everyone wants to hear a falsely "magical" solution to all this, but in this case, you haven't understood magick in-depth. Magick is a natural process, that involves, even in it's miraculous aspect, laws of life and the universe.

Some magicians, they can shoot a spell, and without being aware of these laws or where they sit, if it works a giant miracle, they think that they are Gods. Yet, as years pass, this ability may wane off or die out [or it might happen once in their life]. That is because of lack of knowledge.

A lot of real magick is hidden in changing yourself, your mentality, understanding you are a being that can navigate your own life, and trying to come to your senses. This "magick" remains the most underrated form of "Magick", and represents the first levels of spiritual initiation.

A common mistake also is trying to skip this in order to try to give yourself a false perception of advancement, which is a by-product of being lazy or desperate. Therefore, a lot of people want to apply the higher things without having managed the lower.

No amount of higher magick can be worked unless the foundation of the mind is stabilized and made healthy. Bunk magick, accidents, corny assistance from negative entities that teach you nothing in the end of the day, remaining stupid and oblivious to your existence, and getting nowhere, that is not part of Spiritual Satanism.

There is no "Higher Magick" until you get that stuff sorted out. I am sorry to say this that openly. Yes, much of it will be bunk and useless if you don't advance in the deeper recess of your mind, mentality etc.

In every Ancient initiation rites, the beginning happened in the earth, then water, then air, then fire. In the Joy of Satan, before any of these things we have now existed, you could jump straight into fire, and nobody even told you otherwise. Generally, without the rest of the elements, one has to be very lucky or burning can occur.

What does the above mean? Use your thought process. That is why many people fly into delusions and other issues. Jews know this is the case, and so on. Regardless, Gentiles left without a culture couldn't articulate these things and put them in order, which made us useless.

Even worse, Gentiles have been meddling either with jewish shit or NONSENSE for thousands of years time now.

In regards to the cycle of initiations, these also, took decades. Now, people can't "wait" for decades, yet, regardless, the situation remains the same that this path works this way. The Gods do indeed understand our situation and urgency, which is why this knowledge is given out in this manner.

In this way of having to deal with the dopamine and lies surged brains of everyone, articulation of specific subjects can be difficult or impossible. I'll focus on the difficult, since I don't believe that is impossible in anyway.

In every major meditation, spiritual working, magick, or spiritual pursuit, the mind can stand in the middle. A typically badly placed mind that hasn't really become a properly programmed Satanic Mind, cannot really operate certain segments to become a proper magician.

To give an example: people when they are told that you might need 180 days to solve an issue in your life, might flip out. However, watching yourself throw a lot of hard work everyday in another timeline, you wouldn't have these question marks. If you had to work on a field for one year, you would also understand a lot of other things that one has to manually explain to people here. Such as for example, "There is a time and a reason for everything".

Now, you have to take a self affected dopamine fiend that is modern man that we all happen to be morphed into, whose brain is only built on temporary fake and instant gratification, and teach this person how to live or the ways of the universe. That can be difficult.

This type of modern crackhead that has been created, is fit for nothing but cannon fodder and being a literal crackhead. We have been set up to become this thing. This thing can only live in delusions, and cannot really maintain the capacities needed to understand the cosmic order.

One therefore has to gradually change themselves, their mindset etc. Of course, when people like I point to the contrary, one is dealing with a major sea of delusions and other problems.

Regardless, this task is possible as we have seen over the years, and many people have achieved this through this path and the construction of a proper Satanic Mindset. Which didn't exist before all that much. It was ironed for the last 10 years and I was hammering it in as one hammers steel all day.

Progressively, that is only the beginning. In short, we aren't done yet. There is far more to do and to reveal.

The only thing that will matter is if the construction of the best system that the Gentiles ever had happens here. That is a lifelong task being built here. The idea is that it can be passed down to your children and the children of your children, or to people a thousand years down the line, and it will help them more or the same than it does help you today.

-High Priest Hooded Cobra 666

© Joy of Satan Ministries

www.joyofsatan.org