

New Satanic Year: A Prior Assessment of My Mistakes and Improvements

HP Hooded Cobra 666

April 23, 2022

As everyone notices, the Joy of Satan is improving year by year. Me, as a person, I am not excluded. To be exact, all of this is more difficult with more added responsibility and higher stakes to uphold the love of the Gods where it should be kept.

This path is the definition of transformation. With many, we have been together here for a decade or more. You have seen me evolve and I have likewise seen many evolve, slowly or with leaps. We have looked back on the decade to see ourselves rise onto the ladder of wisdom, ability, or regular everyday life. With many, we have formed strong and meaningful bonds as it is.

As a community, we have endured and endured again and again. It is shocking to look back at this and count the blows, but also the successes. And we are still here...Better than ever.

Living close to Satan and the Gods has a transformative effect. It awakens and empowers your soul. Above all however, what one comes in strong contact with, is the moving from lower states of delusion and foolishness, onto the next stage. I have merely been someone alongside everyone else who has kept the determination alive to do this as a lifelong task, honouring my oaths to the Gods. At the same time, the most important thing is in ourselves.

Regularly, except of the beauty, one is also confronted with the reality of our inadequacy, stupidity, lack of wisdom or knowledge. But then you learn to admire this vastness of existence and seek to solve it.

No matter what "I" teach you, or alert you to, the last key principle in your own evolution is your very own personal self. You must understand the same is the case from the Gods too. The Gods can help you, give you a boon sometimes, or guide you to accelerate you, but you are the walker of your life's path and you own the path of your existence. If you decide to not walk, nobody can carry you.

We are the deciders of our own "Fate" when it comes to our inner transformation, especially in this day and age of current. You decide what you will do with your life and existence.

For this reason, I have seen a percent of people stray off or stagnate in the path, but this was at all times by their own hand. The path is still there to be walked. To take a break on the sideline is not a mistake, but one seriously makes a mistake against their own self if you don't apply Satanism in your life.

Flirting for years with ideas of grandiosity or evil mediocrity, and other states, but also of the opposite evil which is to not understand where one is and underestimation, is not easy. The tongue of evil that wants everyone to overestimate themselves, or underestimate themselves, has always been with me too, with many other monsters of the sea and beasts of burden.

In regards to myself, I recall not that long ago, an enemy and long-term infiltrator [they never took time to advance, just to attack those who do...], was complaining on how much I have changed, borderline sounding like a different person. They were highlighting all the traits that I had in the negative, and how many of these no longer exist. That is correct.

My job is to disappoint my enemies and make the friends of Satan say "Behold, that is a manifestation of the Gods in what we do - we must become like them! And fast!". Even those against us, will in the end see the holiness of the Gods and understand even their own falsehoods.

I am a whole other reborn person and individual as time goes. This is nowhere near done. How much further do you have to walk, and how much have you walked? I owe this to the Gods, myself and Satan, but above all the JoS, because without this, we will never reach the goals that have been set. We also have the legacy of the past to uphold and build on top of it.

Becoming a partaker of the wisdom of the Gods, this has grown me exponentially. The labors of birth were indeed there, but so were the fruits. Partaking in the Divine light of the Gods, and at the same time, Satan has forced me more and more out of the shell of delusion that I have begged to be freed from.

Lighter feel your feet, without the shackles of ignorance around them, or when you loosen them up a bit. But long is the way to fly again.

I follow the dictates of the Gods everyday so that I may be freed from the need of these falsehood removal procedures of mind and spirit, from the shackle and bond of ignorance. Now, all that looks like suffering to me is the day I have not parted from ignorance at least some inches further.

In regards to our relationship with some people, as we are a brotherhood of souls wanting to rise higher, there are older members of the family and younger. As we are the younger in this generation and others are older before us, in this time and era, some are older and further than others, some are starting now; but we all walk in the same path.

Some of you have supported me, been by my side, and we have fought battles alongside one another. I have to thank you all for this. Granted I know that we have done this with the greater growth and Satanic Vision in mind, I want to verify to you that our feet are as strong as ever and set in the path more than ever before.

To move into the next Satanic year which starts next week, the JoS always connects with the Gods to receive the Agenda for the next year. I cannot look back and say everything that should have been done, has been done, because that would entail that we were perfect and Gods. That would be a product of arrogance to say, especially in a world where there are infinite things to do.

But we have been doing very well, we have to admit this as to not be unjust on the side of reducing our own attainments.

On a personal level, I am very much aware of my own mistakes and of potential things I have to correct and what I have to improve upon. These may not have to do with the opinion of others at all times, but they definitely have to do with the dictates of the Gods and logic.

One example that some might have observed, is how I have went from writing in a way of lesser manner years ago, to progressively advancing to a best and most proper manner. I am nowhere close to the final attainment.

In the same way, this has even reflected upon the writings of other SS, which have made me really glad. Were it not however for certain people to constantly "persecute" me as grammar Nazis, then this would not have happened, therefore, I am thankful for being "persecuted".

In regards to the corrections I receive from the Gods, and many of them very difficult to put in motion, I won't even go into much depth in this post. It's a lot, but all of it pleasant when it's achieved. And most rewarding. But it's uphill, in a world where all seems to go increasingly downhill.

Granted also, as with always, my e-mail is open for any dispute or any fruitful conversation or advice that has to do with important tasks. Never has anyone been turned down, except of outright enemies. The higher reason of the Gods implies that if you want to be like them, as they are here for us now, we are here for them too.

Because the perception of many appears to be warped, thinking that one would in my shoes merely go after their personal things, and/or anything of the sort, I wanted to also clarify some things further here.

The whole idea of being a High Priest or being in this position, is not one of influence or personal affairs. Although, unironically, this is a strongly personal development path, it is not one that one receives in the way most people consider personal evolution to be a thing. It's about walking towards Truth.

It's about taking care of the souls of other people, learning to be Just, treating our own kindly, protecting knowledge, and other important tasks. The same delegated responsibility is extended to all people who by nature have grown to be influential in the community and so forth, although, we all have different roles. Many of you have this in your hands, and other hands are getting empowered to carry this beautiful gift and bestow it in your own turn.

As a whole, the idea of mine is to be able to present myself to the Gods whenever that is, and say that I really took care and massively accelerated the progress and empowerment towards Truth of all their people, to the best of my ability. And that when the best was reached, we went even further.

I have to fight all the battles for your sake and I urge people to look at the years back and see how "my" battles have become our battles, and how we have grown from all of this together. Your battles, the ones of your life and for your soul, have likewise become my very own lifelong task to solve. It's impossible to me to look at matters in any other way than what it is.

That task is very difficult, and except of the enemy, I have to fight many "monsters" every day, not limited to and included my own "personal" monsters, which every being has, or external ones. The fight towards their eradication is a very uphill battle. But if you haven't fought then why do you even live?

These monsters go by many names, such as delusion, falsehood, acting in an unjust manner, the list goes and goes. If one looks at things directly, we all have to fight these things, what is the case is however that some of us are more advanced and more solidified in their control.

It's very difficult to explain specific things about this path unless one has walked them. I believe many of you will closely understand what I mean here or in this post, especially those who walk in the same road on a daily basis.

You cannot walk this path and not see errors, mistakes, or things you have to become better and more balanced in. If you still think after a while in this path that you are doing everything correctly, that there is nothing to solve, and nothing to get better at, go do a Regular Thanksgiving Ritual to Satan, and really mean it when you say to absolve you of all past error and delusion.

Granted also, we are looking at the future and I have seen Satan's visions for the restoration of the Satanic Culture, those of you who have seen the vision, must upgrade your game alongside with "me" and all of us together as a team must do our part to bring this on.

Extending the mind and understanding how this will affect future generations, and what important task we have in our hands, will give you a lot of power to overcome obstacles that look deafening, blinding and damning if you simply look at them as an individual.

From now on there will also be certain things and exposures on how people can accelerate their advancement, but with proper function and with proper positioning. Much of this knowledge comes from our Ancestors and Cultural fathers, which the Gentiles lack of and have been left culture-less. So many are walking around totally blind.

These were teachings from the Gods that came from the past from the people they were close to, and many have disregarded them at the present. And there have been some people in the past who were incarnated in the wisdom of the Gods, to help. Yet, their work was left by the side and humanity has regressed. We must not allow this to occur again.

This will no longer be the case. I will build the Joy of Satan into the house of the Wise, where all Gentiles will want to join and will prostrate themselves by the Gods, so they can grow in their light. As we move towards the light of Sat, then a lot of falsehood will be eradicated.

I pray the Gods make me into a Just guide and a proper helper and protector of their legacy and the JoS. I pray strongly that I am judged adequate, and that my ignorance does not eat me, and that I partake towards the real light of the Gods, and help them show the straight path to all of their people.

Thank you all,

HAIL SATAN!!!
