

The Collapse is Real: Economy Goes Down the Drain [+Crypto Update]

HP Hooded Cobra 666

May 11, 2022

For Updates, Check At The End Of The Thread

Last year around November, I have warned everyone to take measures and told people who might have things, to go into "Safe Haven Assets", with whatever this entails, and to do your own research because shit was about to hit the fan.

I gave this warning at the high peak of the markets. If you listened back then, this probably saved you a lot of pain. Gasoline, commodities, everything is steadily on the rise, with Governments fighting inflation, and jews having us on the brink of WW3 [they wish it too strongly, those of you psychic, you know].

Everyone must maintain a very positive mindset. Just do what you can. Money will be lost during these times, and it's going to be really difficult.

Even for the JoS, this is going to be the case, and everyone except mega wealthy people like Klaus Schwab, is going to be affected. In fact, this is all very carefully designed to occur in such a way to financially crash the populace. The Co-Vid hoax has served many well, and pooled a lot of inflationary money in their pockets.

We are preparing for absolutely anything. If this crap continues, companies might default, and things might turn really crazy. It all depends on how deep the knife will go. And Governments are left with few decisions. They might however enforce digital coins or other things soon; it all remains to be seen. We will see things we have not seen before financially.

Do not forget the JoS during these times. As you can see, the JoS is always here and you always have a place to run to. We will be here for you. Donations are necessary now, that is why I reiterate this. For all we know, companies that for example host, could go bankrupt, and in this case, we must be reasonably prepared for anything, such as moving.

This might sound like science fiction now, unless one has been checking the Stock Markets and so on. Then you saw a real apocalypse taking place there.

The mix of the economy now is something like the 1999's with the Dot com boom, the 2008 crisis, and something entirely new which is the transition caused by Uranus. Everyone is also VERY strongly advised to go and do many money workings for security.

USE THE CALENDAR THE JOY OF SATAN HAS GIVEN AND PLAN FOR THIS! SAFETY, SECURITY, WEALTH ETC!

It is of extreme difficulty to live in this world and all these troubling times and problems hitting it, and knowing it, and having no support. Many outsiders and regular populace people will gradually go insane from these things, others will suicide and be made destitute etc., especially those crashed in the stock markets.

Regardless, none of these people will be people from here, as you are all with the Gods and strong. Even if you have taken damage, you will recover.

The average working class, have not been yet affected thankfully, and consumers have not been that much affected, except of rising prices. If governments don't act now, and inflation keeps going rampant, we will see very negative events unfolding here. But planets in the sky don't yet show things like this.

But they show "restrictions". In the EU, there are already talks about rampant shortages. But we know this was planned way earlier. Read my post that is linked below, this is where I understood the situation was about to get really ugly.

Life must have become a little bit more expensive everywhere. But people who invest etc., have been into a bloodbath situation right now. Theoretically, these aspects of the economy are under collapse, due to artificial bubbling of them, based on fake printed imaginary money.

Well, shit did hit the fan since November. For anyone watching the markets, stocks or crypto, the whole situation screams "Semitah Year", and global collapse. We are living a 2008 of sorts all over again. Some stocks fell like 50% or 75%, bubbles have been collapsing left and right. Crypto was not exempt, with many things there collapsing as much as 90% in a few days.

Billions were lost and the lives of millions have been ruined now. All of this for what? A bullshit virus and incessant false printing. As I said also before this war began, this insanity leads Nations to fight each other and to start wars. Then, you saw Russia invade Ukraine and the rest is what we all know.

Re-Reading this post from as early as September [before the clouds of war appeared on the astral], it was predictably the case that they would start a war.

<https://ancient-forums.com/viewtopic.php?f=24&t=63564>

Then, in November, I have told you this. Now, in regards to what is coming next, redistribution of wealth is happening, and chaos will occur. The 2022 will be a peak of this, with 2023 being only similar. It's after these years that there could be reasonable peace in these departments.

DO NOT BE AFRAID, AS MOST OF THIS MIGHT BE MACRO-ECONOMIC, WITH MUCH OF IT SHOWING SMALL SIGNS ON REGULAR PEOPLE. STAY POSITIVE AND KEEP YOUR PLANS UP FOR YOUR LIFE. WE WILL OVERCOME ANYTHING!

"I truly hate to be a harbinger of bad news. But for now, given also the planets, the times are definitely not easy.

All the printed money from Co-Vid, wasn't for free. It is something they will demand one way or another from the citizens. People who thought lockdowns and worldwide rape was necessary over a virus of 0.02% mortality rate, are going to experience a rude awakening that will affect their pockets now.

Everyone is advised to prepare for this.

Although we are not financial advisors, it's recommended for people to invest in some sort of "safe haven asset" to protect themselves from losses. This does not come without risk - there will always be risk involved.

A certain risk would be to not invest, in which case if one holds 5000$ for example, the purchasing power with inflation added to it, might reach something north of 50% within 10 years. That is a devastation for the average consumer and average citizen that is not considerably wealthy. The wealthy will have to tank a lot of damage from this too.

However, if one has invested the same amount in a safe haven asset, such as for example Gold or Silver [there are other assets too, do your research], one might as well experience an increase or an adjustment in the price based on inflation."

Crypto Crash Update May 12 2022:

BlackOnyx8 wrote:

"I have noticed the crypto market is going crazy lately, I have been wondering if this was normal, but it has been falling nonstop. Doesn't look normal to me."

What is happening in Crypto is a coordinated attack by the likes of Rothschild and Soros, and clearly, probably also including certain Governments, but also profiteers. They are upon its corpse and feast it out of ultimate greed.

The same goes for certain companies such as the exchanges, and they all pretend that this is absolutely normal and so on, yet it's all a coordinated attack.

The Luna Coin situation was also a sudden attack by the jews and an internal cable ruggpull by the people who own the project themselves. But it appears to have been three players in this situation.

Yet, this seems to have come hand in hand with the fact that the US Gov is trying to assassinate all "US Dollar" alternatives that mirror the dollar in a decentralized way, so Luna was killed as part of this process. And with it, the wealth of about 65 billion of everyday people. They simply don't give a shit to do things like that.

It appears that when the developers saw it going down, they just said "fuck it, we cannot save this" and started to siphon the corpse of the coin on top of everything without remorse, the same goes for influencers and other people. This one was of the biggest scams in likely decades.

The assassination and death of crypto, possibly while milking it, has become a top priority for the enemy. It appears they have succeeded. A bubble has been popped there in Crypto. Regardless, the sector might survive but go under extended periods of damage and market brutality, where many will be squashed permanently if they say in it due to lack of understanding or experience. On the long-term horizon, let's say, 5 or 10 years, things should be fine.

Lastly, if certain people hold Crypto, do not be tempted to panic sell it and make informed decisions. Like stocks, whether or not cutting losses, is a thought of serious consideration.