

The Perfect Knowledge of Thoth: Against the Idea That [Almost] Destroyed the World

The first and primary idea and conception that has done most damage of this world, is the one that has been promoted by the enemy and jews. Primarily, this idea is the foundation of Christianity, Islam and Judaism.

Specifically, what this idea is, is summarized into this phrase: "This World Is Evil".

This perverted ideal, created an array of different mental illnesses in human beings. It created denial, lack of care, a sense that man has no reason to really exist.

Ancient mystics and meditation masters, knew that this world was not "all that is", but that the world of matter is part of another, larger world that has levels and layers. Human beings were perceived as existing both in this world and what we broadly call the astral plane.

Thoth's teaching is that 'As above, so below', indicating the bond between the lower and higher worlds. Both are aspects of man internally and externally in the same manner. We are spirit & we are matter. It's because we are spirit that we are matter, and because we are matter that we are too, spirit.

Thoth's Statement here means also that the external world, is in a way, a manifestation of our inner world. To condemn the external world, which is the macro-cosmic expression of our own internal microcosm, is basically to hate on the human soul and the human condition. If we hate the world, then we also hate ourselves - if we want this world to be gone, we effectively want ourselves gone from it.

"As Above, So Below". In this manner, Thoth also, alongside our Gods, did share the spiritual knowledge, which rectifies our inner microcosm, and manifests through the laws of the universe into our outer macrocosm. The limit of this perfection is the limit of our very own consciousness. Thoth taught that our level of existence rests in our very own hands as humanity. To hate on the external world is to hate on ourselves, it's the below of our above.

Modern physics has destroyed the dogma of the dark ages of "Christianity", which was based upon the falsified and gross barbaric ideal of the jews, that our world is "gross matter" and therefore "evil matter". Even in Ancient books such as those written by any mystery schools, none really refer to our world as a "material" world or a "material prison", or other lunacy such as the Bible or Quran.

Our world is understood to be a vibrating, sound and light based, living world, and part of a general universe, just a denser aspect of it. Modern physics and quantum physics have grasped this ideal, that this world is not really "gross matter", but rather different formation of particles, sound waves, patters and in essence, light, which is wave. We are part of the light of the universe, and are living in one of its levels.

The ideas that "we only live once" or that "the world is evil", generated ideals of greed, destruction, barbarism and above all, a careless attitude towards other beings, our actions, and finally our world. We have been lied to not only about the physical, but also about the metaphysical.

It's the people that cared about this world, that made anything positive in it. Humanity would be nothing but monkeys living in trees were it not for specific people to wake up from this situation and start caring about our world.

The metaphysical fruit of this mentally ill ideal of the enemy, is how many people are now creating different forms of delusional escapism towards fake "Artificial Intelligence Worlds" or "Virtual Reality", with some people literally talking of wanting to live in pods.

These people know nothing of the world, but are ready to embark on the next one - sort of how Christian Priests were so fond to go in the afterlife. The new priesthood of decay has changed its mask, but its rhetoric remains the same. The heaven of Jesus has now become the "Heaven" of AI, or something similar. All of this preys on the basic fears of human beings, all based upon the same and primary lie of this world being evil.

It also manifests in how many want to escape this world - because this escapism in the first place created our world into a dystopia that one needs to 'escape' from. Increasingly, many people are stopping to even care about this world, leaving it to the hands of the most corrupted to exist into and manage things for the rest of us.

And these individuals, boastfully declare now, that they want to turn humans into a form of living factory fuel, living inside a pod, where they might be fed intravenously from "ecofriendly" bug juice jelly, while they are poorly hooked into some fake 3d visual stimulation machine. The matrix undertones here should be apparent.

Turning man who was meant to be as the Gods, into a form of fossil-fuel, is what they boastfully promote as a plan. One way or another, these beings which are motivated by aliens, are constantly telling humanity to "leave" this world, but also, leave their ability to become Gods behind. That's their goal and their aim. To keep humanity blind perpetually and forever.

Further rising of the state above and the further this weakness progresses itself, so will this illness continue spreading: The less involvement of people in this world, the more worthless our world is going to become. The more worthless, the more many will desperately seek to "Escape it", and the more they seek to "escape it", the more will this world become worthless,

The circle of futility does not end by denial, it ends when people spiritually wake up. This world deserving of hate, and we are going to be the ones to do it ourselves.

The carelessness of many for one another and this world at large, created by the dogmas of the enemy, has progressively ruined humanity by abolishing the sense of maturity of responsibility needed for people to contemplate their own actions, to meditate, or to build physically and cherish one another and this world.

General denial of science, or the reality in front of us, was also procured by the enemy's life hating dogmatic "Religious" ideals. The Jews in particular, while they are the core creators of this ideal, excreted this from their culture and merely pushed this into Gentiles to cause them a maximum amount of damage. The extent to which this is absorbed in a civilization, reassures its collapse.

The strongest people are those who didn't consume this ideal, but the escaping from its ramifications was impossible: this virus infestation caused many losses for Gentile people, not only physically, but culturally, in the arts, in their soul, and even into our quality as species. Jews are busy existing, while Gentiles are busy living in Zuccerborg's wanna be "VR" in where they experience nothing in reality.

The severing of the bonds of reality and recognizing the beauty into this world, are already forcing people in denial to double on this denial.

The foundation of the above idea, promotes also godlessness and the severing of man from his higher spiritual instincts. This happens because man denies himself and his own foundation, but also the root of the tree of the human soul, which is the material realm. It's upon the material that man exists first, and then grows upwards.

Severing the roots towards reality and what is earthly, we also lost our connection to the higher realms. The severing of the connection to the higher levels of existence, was severed because the nihilism of a human being without a soul, spreads itself to levels that created a general lack of understanding about the importance of life and our world.

Deforestation, destruction of other animals or nature at large, humans treating each other like garbage, melting pot our differences instead of maintaining them, the vice of blindness and ignorance, all these spread upon humanity based on these diseased ideals. "The world does not matter, the world is evil, live for your next life, you only live once".

The idea to live for the next life, is a mirror of the idea that you only live once. Both are founded and cemented on existential nihilism, denial of existence, and hate of the present moment and existence. Either constitute a destructive imbalance, that bleeds upon the world.

Our world has been destroyed by the fake spiritualists and the diseased empiricists. In a sense, it's the people that spoke the loudest against this world and its "Evil", that procured and created all this evil: the denial this idea created in mankind, destroyed all that mankind has been trying to create.

Spiritual Satanism heals this imbalance. Under Spiritual Satanism, people will reconnect both towards the heavens and towards the earth, and mankind will become whole and real again.

We are heralds of cure of spirit for humanity. We must preach this and promote this proudly, alas in a safe manner amidst the sleeping people. They will not be asleep forever, for as we too wake up, so will progressively more and more others.

Bring people into the light of knowledge and away from the void of ignorance.
