

The World is Going to Change - Why the Rush?

HP Hooded Cobra 666

Jan 08, 2021

Every time I read online some bullshit on Icke forums and so on, Saturn is There have been related topics before in regards to this and a Satanic viewpoint on this. As the situation has it, the United States is now boiling in enmity, unrest, and all people perceive severe violations of basically just about every freedom. Much of this is going to continue, and everyone has to be ready for it, mentally, emotionally and spiritually. There is going to be turmoil.

As to not repeat things already stated [one can read them in the board], one has to remember that HPS Maxine has stated something about Trump. His Saturn was conjunct the Ruler of the United States chart. This can be highly destructive for a Nation in this case. Trump would either be a detriment to the US, or he would even out serious, long-term lingering issues that plagued the country. As we can see his Presidency was a mix of both.

He left important topics unaddressed. Fateful irony has it, that in his last days in office, the same Freedom of Speech things he neglected, basically came to eat him alive, to the point he also got censored by Facebook. Without action on specific topics, one cannot expect to have a positive outcome.

In the past I have been pulling focus from these people as I want to help everyone understand, that leaders are important, for sure. But what people are willing to do is also very important. Not every leader is a leader, in the sense that, not all leaders want to innovate or do something positive for the people. Many people are placeholders. Just look into your average US Senator and you'll understand.

Under Trump's administration, not only did Israel bolster their "Peace agreements", but also, the US, baseline went to war with Iran. Trump may have stopped this, but the intention is clearly here. Also, in the end of the day, one must look at what one has actually done about things in politics. On the other hand, the most major purge online happened under Trump, unprecedented to any other year - and at the same time, the maximum exposure of the Globalist, Jewish and related agenda. He fast sped jewish ass kissing in his last year at office, but failed to gain any form of favor.

Now the US is going to enter a cycle of new restrictions, same as the World. It appears much of this is "necessary", because people aren't going to protect any freedom otherwise. Everyone will be told it's because of the Pandemic and so on, but we know what all of this is about.

Many are fast asleep and they have no idea or will to do anything. But these are only a minority at the time being. The enemy is so aware of people worldwide waking up, to where they hope that they control this situation without destruction falling on themselves.

The Hebrew Media whines that a few potential violent people entered the Capitol. Meanwhile, they have been fostering the fires of civil and race war in the United States for decades. Who was exactly that caused all the George Floyd riots and made this meme that set towns ablaze?

But yes, it was "Trump" who instigated and created violence because three random people dressed in fur made it into the Capitol. They are becoming so braindead obvious, and actually, this is the only good thing that came out of Trump: the system of the jewtrix was exposed to be controlled by them from the foundations.

Nothing is anymore a "Conspiracy theory" that involves them, or their "Globalist" agenda. People are living this now. Only if people have listened earlier, we may not have been here. The jewtrix is pushing on our world to try to consume it.

Needless to say, anyone who has a little memory and intelligence, can understand we are being shilled. Only total NPC people are the ones who believe in all this whole dialectic of the enemy without questioning. These people are certainly mentally damned.

Biden is coming in office not only on a divided country, but one that has an excessive amount of inflation. Behind all this Pandemic thing, there is a financial breakdown that is slowly being fostered. It appears this is going to continue with the printing money, job losses, and generally Uranus in Taurus will be rather merciless. While the US is not in lock-down, Europe is in Lock-down. Governments are printing as if there is no tomorrow to try to to pay people their rightful due.

Mental illnesses, drug use, domestic violence, hate and many other things are brewing in people who are locked down, and understand they are no longer free. With all that the enemy is doing, we will only continue to have social implosion. The enemy breeds these kinds of haters that one can never escape from.

They may not meet them outside with a plank of wood or stones, but they will want to destroy their system in a methodical manner. While these were only a minority in the past, now it's in the billions worldwide. The enemy is overconfident they can contain this wave that is coming at them, as they were with Hitler in 1923.

Their matrix is now dying. It happens slowly and will manifest slowly. People are being affected by all of this and rather deeply. Not all people - many people will remain cattle and NPCs. But in others, there are serious flames of change brewing inside them. There will be radicalism in the future, because this is being created today.

System reformation happens by many people, not just leaders. Leaders have their role in this. But leaders build on what is already present to lead. We could have all the political leaders who told people their rights, freedoms and so on, violated to no return.

But if you have sleeping NPC's beneath them, they can never manifest a vision because nobody is as aware as to partake in this vision. The only way to wake up people in such limbo, is terrifying events such as the ones that are happening now, and possibly even worse. People thought that they are free, but now they will be confronted with the reality of their own slavery.

Do not be disappointed about Trump or Biden. In fact, I personally welcome this chaos, dread and destruction that is coming. No captain likes storms. But many people in this world have been sleeping to the point this is more dangerous than the storm itself.

If "order" exists, how many people have been shocked out of their boots at what they have seen, and how many millions are questioning their reality now? Half of the United States or so? This shaking is far from a basic reaction, it's a whole rewiring of one's understanding about existence.

How loyal are there going to be people that have been exposed to electoral fraud? How happy are people going to be when Biden will attempt impositions that will radically transform the United States and remove freedoms that had lasted centuries?

Do they think they'll chase people around with a syringe every 2 months over frivolous claims, to "treat them", and that because they control the "Media" [which nobody believes in anymore], they are going to win? And that nobody will have a single question?

Lastly, in every historical interval, there are players who want to stop the emergence of something new. In this case, for example, Jews want to stop the Age of Aquarius or extremely pervert it. The enemy is clearly in a rush to instate a system of control that goes very deep - including health and population control, ID profiling on a whole new level, brainwashing technologies, a death rattle to sharing of information and free speech, financial profiling beyond imagination.

What they are doing in 2-3 years are things they didn't even want to entertain to do in the last 20 and 30. Clearly, they are rushing. Rushing creates these types of mistakes that will ruin them. But on the other hand, do they have the time to be slow and patient? It appears not.

They seem to be in a rush... Why the rush? Is something coming for them? They know very well it is.

Is something coming for them socially, spiritually, or... will we be having any visitors that disagree with what the enemy is trying to do? Is Humanity poised to take a bigger fight than anyone expects or even imagines would be possible? Were this not likely, would they rush?

In the height of darkness everyone should be rather optimistic. Were it not for major progress and breakthroughs that will follow, the enemy would never behave in the way that they do. The point of the decline of the enemy's power in the Middle Ages was the point of their climax - filled with murder, censorship, disappearance, manipulation, and mind control. This created the reaction of the level they could never contain afterwards, and crushed them for centuries to come.

When the darkness is at such rush to consume a light, it means that the light is actually there.

And when it's covered from all sides, it will flicker and expand in order to fight and live.