

Understand the Gods and Your Purpose

HP Hooded Cobra 666

Greetings to All our Comrades and Family.

We need to mention about something important here. I note this, because it must be noted definitely, and people have to understand. I will do my best to explain this fully.

Knowing the Gods, requires the higher senses to be open. Not only "eyes", "ears", but understanding. This is for a reason that the Gods communicate with us through these senses. Although the Gods are human like, and they are "like us", they are NOT us. We are really behind from the understanding and the conception of the Gods. So many people time and time again, they state they are "Gods", simply because they found out they can do magick, or because they dress fancy, or because they have physical influence, or because of whatever other reason, to fill an empty self, receive a following of people (Who are obviously blind to matters about being bullshitted) and the list goes. So many also ASSUME they are Gods, based on what THEY think is to be a God. It's always what THEY think. In their drunkenness of being a "god", they cannot see the evident that they are not Gods, obviously. They would rather think that by some years of meditation, they have become so important. It might be the case, since they have advanced, and they might be strong, but there are still many parameters to this and this is childish behavior to think so.

When it comes to words, then everyone can be a God. I see this all around. The "ONA" thought they were Gods, my 95 year old grandma thinks she is a goddess too (excuse her for she has dementia), my local junkie says they are a "god" (he's high bruh), another joo who eats his own shit, they think they are "god" too. Such a blasphemy, really. Such nonsense. How about we get real and get the job done? Both this of becoming REALLY a God and also, to sweep out the resistance to such who is the enemy? How about we really aim to save ourselves and our world, instead of escaping? Here below, lets make this chaos an order.

First of all, everyone gets trapped in notions of time. I know this might sound alien right now, but the time to the Gods is entirely different than what it is for "us" here. If you were immortal in all levels that you existed, time wouldn't be of much consequence. Also, if you had rid from yourself all the fear complexes, old age, all the "guilt" and whatever else guides everyone to be "Scared" of time, the concept wouldn't be to you anything but rather, something entirely natural that is to be cherished like anything else and that keeps things in an "order". Time is not an evil concept, but because we are born mortal, it simply means rot for us pretty much. This whole world and our perception is based around this decay and escaping momentarily this decay. While if you look at the Ancients, they were building as if they would live and exist forever. Now buildings are meant to last 100 years at best. This should show what they "were" really.

Now, how many REALLY try to look at the beings they have in front of them? So many people have very limited understanding of themselves, so this limited understanding is transferred to whatever they perceive, or they deceive themselves to perceive. In other words, one may be able to see or not see the Gods, but to see who they are in essence, is a whole another matter. Sort of they are trying to make the Gods fit in the own little box, like they are supposed to. Because of course, everything is about YOU and YOURSELF. Your own little box, your own little tiredness, your own little reality, your own little "truth", your own little fears, your own little "suffering" which is self-imposed, your own little notion of justice, your own little notions of "how things should be". Little you, big you. Giant you. While this "me" is what makes us exalted, this is what is used by the enemy to drag this Humanity to its own pit of doom. This "me" cannot exist without this "us" though.

No matter how much I understand this and know this to be Natural, it's imperative to try to get a bit beyond this. So many people are just not balancing this right. On one hand we have those who are "all for others" and then those who are "all for me" This is again a deep work of the enemy, to destroy all human relations and as thus destroy civilization. Then we have serious imbalances, because in fact this imbalance starts from within. This is as natural as it's natural to live inside your own experience, to mind your "environment". The more one gets to know their "Human" self, they will understand how great it's just to be "Human" and how elevated this thing is in itself. People are being brainwashed that being human is technically, being a useless unspiritual idiot, and this is the enemy projecting what they are to us. Nobody says the Truth that the natural state of the "weak" mankind is a state of possible elevation. They say we are what we are, live with it. And then make insane amounts of effort to keep people inside this farm they are, so they "are what they are".

Therefore, these so called self-proclaimed and self-deified human "Gods" we have around, they can't even see past this, because they are looking merely at themselves. "Ego" in this case is a senseless bullshit, and useless really, so is any other notion that is attached to it to "puff" it up. Them being a "god" and all this great sci-fi, benefits nobody else, or few at best. They are just searching for sacrifices and gifts, but them, despite of them being "gods" they are not being a gift to anyone else. They are rather a delusional curse. So many people try to puff up their "ego" with anything, just because they are afraid of their own lack of knowledge of self and emptiness. They want to be made useful through lies, but in Satanism, there is no need of lies. There is only a use for Truths here. They are afraid to admit that they are mortals, for instance, or that other beings are so superior to them, that they are very small to them. And this is the recipe of ALL human and general failure.

In order to advance and evolve, you must cherish on what is "stronger" and more elevated than you, because you are keeping the Truth of Satan in sight, which is that people will be given the means to advance to Godhead and therefore, it's a matter of "time" and effort to get there. The enemy teaches everyone to hate what's superior to them, to puff their ego full of air, but they do not teach them what to do when this egoistical bubble bursts (and reality will do this according to her own "reasoning") what the fuck they are allowed to do. Do not bring this stupid nonsense in Satanism, because it's not worth it. In Satanism we are to do worthwhile things with our time, be it a lifetime, or eternity for those who are getting there. Self proclaiming, asking for "offerings", oh Great God, they don't help us one shit. They just over inflate people's minds with lies, false expectations and this wreaks havoc. This damns everyone and if everyone notices this behavior, run away ASAP.

I personally accepted long long time ago, that I am Human. This is in fact Great. I am so thankful beings so superior as the Gods, of whose I am only a shadow, they pay heed to hear my crap, guide me to ascend and anything else, as they do to us. This is not to degenerate myself, this is just the reality. It would be outrageous and a lie to state otherwise. I am all in for them, I will sacrifice for them, not only literally, but spiritually. It doesn't produce any result other than the result of self-delusion. People when they open up the Kundalini energy and things go "their" way, or they rather THINK they go "Their" way, they instantly jump on the band wagon to tell everyone how they are "Gods", expecting deity sacrifices, honors and status, some sort of divine respect. I mean, what could be more "Human" than this? Not even "Human", but grossly, what the enemy considers today to be "Human". A degenerate filth.

All this insanity stems from one thing: Nobody actually pays real attention to the Gods themselves and to understand, but also admit, that their superiority is so much vaster than humanity, than really what we can understand. You don't need to lie, as lies here don't matter and you will only be lying to yourself, as this is only what you are going to achieve with beings so advanced. Lies never advance anything. All animals and all species are devoid of this ability to "lie" in that sense. The Gods love us and understand us. We are nothing but children hiding behind our mother's skirt while trying to evade the Truth. They are not "punishers" when it comes to these things, but when you are running from yourself, you are damning yourself on your own accord. People have to admit where they are, so they can ascend higher. You have to admit for instance, how you see things. You have to admit that you are dust in the wind and then, become a boulder. And then a mountain. And then you will reach the skies.

And the enemy is responsible for this lack of understanding. This lack of understanding extends so much further in everything in life. If you are limited, then anyone else must be limited. If you are stupid, then everyone else must be stupid, or better yet, more stupid than you, because after all, you are the "greatest" and everyone needs to lick your feet. This is how it goes. Always someone else and you are always against someone else. Someone else must be brought down, but you must be brought up. After all, you deserve it all. You were raised a 21st century Queen or King, your highness. But when it comes to positive things, you will never see any genius say "Oh, everyone is as intelligent as me, or at least they can be made as such". Positive things fools hold only for themselves, because they know these are not valid. And from this comes the inflated ego which breaks like a gum bubble.

You have turned the force of competing outwards, and this is a good thing, but when it comes to inwards, so few are turning this force where it should be. In equilibrium. The enemy has made confidence, competition and all other things into insanity and dragged this completely out of context. Setting the baseline higher is better for anyone involved. And this ensures and bonds people in brotherhood, because everyone sees what they can attain in someone else and they can carry with them whomever cannot do this. But, all this sounds like nonsense from this stupid society, maybe even completely alien, so what I can state, just let go and compete with yourself. The Truth is though, you are not competing with other beings in this Race of elevation, but with yourself and your older self, so many of which are clinging because they are afraid they will lose. The list goes and goes endless.

Only when you accept where you are, no matter where you are, without any "guilt", you will be able to advance. In Satanism we serve the Eternal Truth. Self-made lies are for xians and the rest of the idiots. Here we are pragmatically, as we should be, in order to reach the highest sense of existing.

This is because everyone is so afraid and so locked into themselves, that they are always shunning down both their expression and always making paper castles to prove themselves superior. Proving is one thing and on this lower level, a Rolls Royce can prove you "superior" to most of humanity, I admit it, but when you are on the mountain and you are climbing with the Gods, nothing matters but who you are REALLY and WITHIN. This is what we are trying to build here. People always think they "see" things, but they are always seeing things through themselves. From their own "past", their own "programing", their own psychopathology, their own "expectations" and the list goes endless. Therefore reality starts to become nothing but a senseless experience when one is always in desire to meet their expectations and nullify everything that is higher and more elevated. The projectory parts of your awareness (ie how you perceive everything), affect your environment and also, your actions, and of course others more or less.

This is why the enemy has everyone under the beliefs that "everyone is worthless" and the list goes on and on. The statement everyone is worthless is well based since Humanity has degenerated so much, that it's a true statement. But this doesn't get solved by "positive" and wishful thinking in itself, like saying "Oh everything is fine with humanity" as this is ignorance. It gets only solved by spiritual elevation. But helping others is always good. This is also what the Gods are doing. They are looking at us as worthy, lest we prove and place ourselves worthy. This proves and grounds the concept. If they just look at us as if we are worthy and we are not, it's a waste of time.

The enemy has made everything into a perversion. "God" is a psychopath, it's spiritual to eat your own shit (as many Rabbis, "chosen of god" after all have stated) to not meditate is spiritual, the sooner you die the better and it's spiritual, not existing is also spiritual, humanity is by nature a failure and dysfunctional, because the joo "god" who created "it" in its fable is equally a corrupt and jealous murderous sociopath and the list goes on and on...Jewish insanity, plain and simple. And the list of insanity goes.

Another funny thing, the enemy mentions that somehow, "power" is evil. No, power is not "evil" or "good". It's neutral. Also, power the enemy has translated into that somehow, whomever has it will wreck physical havoc and the list goes. This is fact, for THEM. They are sick lifeforms and this is all they are seeing "power" as a purpose. Self "gratification" (because they are empty indeed) and wreaking havoc to the "goyim". But power when it comes to us, except of gratifying desires (without becoming their slave- which is denial of the Higher Nature of Humanity which is boundlessness/Godhead) can be used in the same way Father Satan and the Gods use it. In a Divine Logos (reasoning). This reasoning opens up as one opens up their consciousness and mind to the Divine Logos of Nature.

Then things fall in place, you get on the Swastika and enjoy the trip of existence, in the rightful level where we are supposed to exist. A level of zero suffering. More evil comes because people are having strange, bizarre and jewish "desires" they want to gratify, never asking ONCE what they really do. It's like, people are forced to feel discontent, while naturally, they might be content where they are. This is what "capitalism" and other foolish ideas are based upon. The Purpose of us is to reach the Absolute and also, elevate the World as we go. And to create one Blue print that is one of a kind and eternal in the Cosmos, as parts of the Cosmos and offsprings of it. As personal individuals, and as collectives at the same time.

To the enemy this means nothing. When the enemy was called an "inferior" it had nothing to do with "physical" terms. It had to do with understanding. These beings are just cockroaches in humanoid form, only that cockroaches are higher. The jews are always tentative to what is "evil", defiling and of a lower conception. They are nothing else but slaves meant to exist solely on the physical level, because this was the intention of their reptilian/grey "creators", or whomever else, who are nothing compared to Ours.

The jews are reptilian by definition. They are just, like any other being is able, ushering power to manifest what they have within. A cockroach travelling at the speed of light would have power too, so what? A toothpick on the speed of light can shatter a mountain, but it's still a toothpick. But nature except of exalted works has made works of all kinds. The jew is the feces work of nature, the big giant flea of the humanoid form. It would be unnatural and an existential crime to let them "win" and get their way, because so much potential greatness will be lost. This is us, Gentiles. This is why I constantly call the enemy a Virus. They ARE a virus. A virus only wants to sustain the existence of itself, while its so limited and in fact, even more useless for anything around it. Its a product of nature, of the lowest order though. It doesn't have any other "predisposition" by Nature, but to reach where its already. Yet it targets even greater beings and if they are weak and stupid enough, they are swepted away from it.

Now, I see so many people here, they say they love the Gods, and I know that they meant it with all their heart. If anything, our struggle is all done by Love, Devotion and Adoration to whom we love the most, who is Satan and the Gods, but also because we love ourselves and our world, which is most sensible and aligns with the love of the Gods for all of us. This is beyond questioning. Do the Gods a favor, and open your eyes. Open them as they are. Devote yourself to this, no matter where you are now, there is eternity waiting for us. Expect to see the unexpected. You don't need to "get" anything from it, just let your mind understand this.

This world is really suffering from "all knowing" authorities, from "gods", from "kings and queens", so many who have given up, so many bored all knowing mustards, so many "real" gods such as Bordallah and Jewsus and from all other disney jude pseudofilth. This is why even though we have so much technology, we are still mentally at the bronze age. This must be stopped by genuine Satanist Truth seekers, like Washington, the Founding Fathers, Adolf Hitler and anyone else who devoted themselves to this deed and materialized this down here. The True Masons and Warriors of a Satanic Age. Who place the Truth and its grasping and realization first and foremost.

You don't need to put this down in paper, write it, or talk about it. This is for you. Open yourself up, to those who have always been at the side of Humanity, always faithfully guiding us, even at this moment of complete despair and darkness. Many of you have experienced Satan's love. Contemplate on it for a bit. How many times have you stood down to contemplate, who you are telling all your concerns about, or who helps us in all this? Transcend your so called and "loved" self just a bit, who portrays as a self but it's just a stuck notion of egopathy. Your confidence must be based on Truth. In all levels. In other ways, it's just self delusion. And it's the worst type of weakness. A weakness so deep, that not only you can't build an empire with, but you can't build one paper tower to last one hour over. This all must be shed, like old snakeskin.

The Gods themselves hold the Serpentine energy very highly and they also revere it, because it's the "God Force", which makes everyone as "Gods" and transmutes our essence to ever expanding capability, extending ourselves and advancing ourselves as the Universe does. This is the source of miracle doing. Its inherent and lives within us. The gift of access to this energy has been given to us by Satan, which is the Soul and the ability to elevate ourselves through meditation. This is why in all temples and all mythologies you will see the "Gods" having been brought to life by "Earth", "Heavens", "Primal Waters" and other essences and concepts. This is because we are all offspring's and creatures of what we can call as "Mother Nature" and the Gods are no exception either. There is no boogie man who "created" the cosmos and all this. The Swastika is the ever revolving cosmos, the 4 corners, the Kundalini and Serpentine energy. In this symbol and in the Black Sun there lies the Powerful message of Creation. These symbols are Divine and not only here, but everywhere else.

The cosmos existed, exists and will forever exist. There is no notion of "outside" or "inside" the cosmos and all this is enemy gibberish to guide all life forms to insanity and to blind them, sap them and then destroy them. It's just Nature. People nowadays are so far from nature they need to have it explained what nature is. But it is what it is, no matter what forms we create in it. To escape from it is the greatest nonsense. Nature is the life giver, once you cut the cord with Mother Nature, you die, you perish and you suffer. If you are joyous it's only momentarily. But the more you delve into her, the more you will feel the eternal pleasures. We are always getting further in understanding her and becoming one with her again, in the present thing that she intends that we are to be and to keep becoming. This is the "Divine Logos", or Divine Reason.

Satan is a patron of this realization and He is called the "Adi Yogi", or the "First Yogi" who reached a state of spiritual elevation, in Hindu literature, and then he made his choice. To guide us, same as with the Gods and everyone else, to this magnificent way. Satan in that sense, and in the sense of directly creating us, He is God. All Ancient Cultures testify. Nazism is based on the Natural way. We are all here as mini creators, meant to ever expand what Nature intended. The conception of Nature placed us all here, so we can co-create on her side, eternally and forever, if so we can achieve. The Gods and the Races of the Gods have achieved this. Now its our turn and our chance. This chance must be seized. If not achieved, its definitely worth sacrificing for. Our purpose here isto partake our positions as creators, destroyers, guides and sustainers of the Universe and Cosmos. This choice has been given to us by Satan.

So many are asking Satan what is their purpose, for instance. I transfer this message, but know that words really lack. I can only show you a sign that shows the door. The meaning of Satanism is to meditate and live this, become this and understand this for yourself. This is our gift from our Creator. The door is for all of us to pass through.

You need to "leave" this old ,xian, bullshiting Humanity behind, as you probably always have to be here. But this on its own is not the "savior-saved" badge that will save your ass from anything Natural and ascend you to Godhead. You need to constantly leave things behind, so that you will be light as Truth. You get the innuedo here. Light as Truth. And become a New Human being. Not a Human being of lies, of nonsense, of titles and vanity. But what it really and always was intended to be Human, as our Creator defined this. A Humankind on the level of the Gods. Not a title of lowness and disgrace, but a title of elevation in all levels.

One last note. We all know Adolf Hitler and how He was of the Greatest Men to ever cross the planet, if not am I allowed to say, the Greatest. Now, this is what The Fuhrer has to state about the Gods:

"The New man is among us! He is here! I will tell you a Secret. I have seen the Vision of a New Man- Fearless and Formidable. I shrank from him!"

-Adolf Hitler

Now, if HE admitted of having shrank to the Greatness of the Gods, imagine what is meant here. To all those who insist to lie to themselves... I have one thing to say... You have no idea of what this means and what evil you are doing to yourself. Our ideas are only "touches" to the greatness of this concept. Paradoxically, in this case, to "shrink", means to Grow. To "surrender" means to elevate yourself. To "let go" in meditation, means to get going. To cause the Spiritual Death, will bring the Spiritual Rebirth. To fall, it means to raise yourself. And to deny "yourself", whatever you "considered always" it was, means to become Yourself. To become, who you always was. To know Thyself.

But all the above, without dealing with the enemy, is wishful thinking at the very best. The enemy has other plans for Gentiles. They envision a man different. To kill all of us, make us die and become a micro chipped slaves of the jews, living in the grossest physicality, with zero to no self-consciousness, being a literal nothing. They state the purpose of "us" all is to serve them like animals. TO DENY THIS WAR IS INSOLENCENESS AND IMMEDIATE ACCEPTANCE OF THIS FACT. ONE BECOMES A TRAITOR, NOT ONLY TO EVERYONE ELSE, THE WORLD AND ANYONE IN EXISTENCE (BECAUSE THIS INVOLVES ALL OTHER LIFE ON EARTH TOO) BUT THEY BECOME A GREATEST EXISTENTIAL CRIMINAL- A TRUE TRAITOR OF MOTHER NATURE HERSELF. How disgusting. Words lack of the crime being committed when one denies this.

There are two paths. The paths of Heroes and the Path of the jewish slave. The choice is up to everyone.
