

ABOUT THE TRANSLATION PROJECTS: READ BEFORE BEGINNING

First and foremost, thanks to everyone who wants to participate in this most important work for the Gods and our future as Satanists. The magnitude of this work is great.

Alchemist has been appointed now as the caretaker for translation projects, generally speaking. This means he will do his best to help everyone else here, and assist people, filtering out translations which will be organized and sent to me.

The rules will be the following:

1. New communities must come in contact with old communities, to NOT have overlap on already translated work. There are many communities that have had SUCCESSFULLY done major translation works [such as Italians] who have translated 90%+ of the Sites, or Turkish.

The appointed leaders on these projects will remain as they are, but extra help with more people taking other things has to happen so we finish everything. More manpower, more work. Many projects are already largely successful.

2. In regards to how I will help, that will be in every way possible. I unfortunately do not have the time to tend directly to any translation, although I have been no exception in this and have worked on translations before.

My duties will be therefore:

1. Taking the assembled things and putting them appropriately in the Official JoS Library, linking to official JoS sites

2. Providing the infrastructure needed for ANY AND ALL translated sites, so they can run undisturbed, at no cost of anyone specifically, and so that nobody will have to do any tasks of booking domains.

This should be exclusively going through the JoS for both safety and convenience reasons. We will also be making sure these remain up, operational, accessible everywhere, worldwide.

3. Making sure the above not only succeeds, but spreads as much as possible regionally [others will help with this, too]

4. Any very serious organization issues, keeping peace, or dealing with any matters that cannot be dealt between members, I will be available to help and converse with, on any project and language.

Additionally, there will be rewards for translators and those who have worked on JoS translations. These will be spiritual rewards. Of course, this draws the positive attention of Satan and the Gods, and is a very high type of work and a direct service to our beloved Gods.
