

Joy of Satan Encyclopedia Now Live!

by High Priest Hooded Cobra 666

November 06, 2019

I am really happy to announce this, this took an extraordinary amount of work to compile and make functional. It was a project that had to be done a long time ago, but then again, everyone can understand there is always more to do.

Due to high necessity for a tool like this to exist, it's now created.

This is the V1 or First Version of the Encyclopedia, which is like 17000 pages long, in total. This is not everything that was ever written in the Joy of Satan, nowhere close. This definitely does not include everything ever written, but it includes an exceptional amount of articles, posts, the whole Joy of Satan PDF, 666BlackSun, and many other things, such as the whole library, all in one file. All you have to do is just open it on a PDF reader in your computer, and you'll have an astounding amount of information.

You can also search into this with the "Advanced Search" in Adobe Reader, if you have Windows, and it will make it even easier for you. It also contains the Meditation section, Demons section, pretty much everything. You'll see more when you open the file.

That is extremely convenient and a measure of reassurance when it comes to safeguarding knowledge and ease of access. Over these years I have been working tirelessly to that end, with the sole idea in mind to keep everything going and easily accessible for all. This is an important goal by the Gods given the situations now with the internet, free speech, and how this world is going.

Even this Encyclopedia alone is enough for someone to keep this on a file, and the knowledge will be kept alive, and the Joy Of Satan information will never disappear.

In the scenario that everything goes, even with just this single file, one can have a giant mass of the Joy of Satan knowledge in there.

As you can understand it's not perfect, even though I lost track of how much work has went into this. As anyone can understand with such volume of material, it becomes extremely mind and time boggling. There are some errors, such as for example, post author can be missing in the index in some of my own posts, but the index itself is fully working. Click and go, and you are on the article. From there on, every PDF that had its own index and worked that way, is working. In other words, it's all there, and functional.

This Encyclopedia is very recent and contains forum writings as late as late October for this year, and updates that aren't even live in the Library yet. In other words, it's really up to date. Honestly, I don't know how such would be updated in the future [The Encyclopedia in itself], as the amount of work to assemble all of this is just monstrous and brutal. Hopefully a way will be found to do this in the future to update these without many issues. For now it's all updated.

Below you will find the PDF Files.

There are two ways this can go. The first version is the Full Encyclopedia. This is A to Z, and has everything in it, so it's a huge PDF file. It may not even open in many computers or phones, or it may put a strain on your system to open, as it's approx 17000 pages long and half a gigabyte.

Be aware as the Full Encyclopedia may crash your computer or make it lag, unless you have a high end phone or computer. It was closely impossible to edit as well.

For this reason, the Encyclopedia will also be provided in Both in Full and in Sections below.
