

Sir Isaac Newton

William Blake's, painting of Newton as the Grand Architect.

Recently I watched a bland documentary that claimed Sir Isaac Newton was some kind of Christian. This is the usual watered down mainstream, of the same kind that claims Washington was a Xian when he was openly Anti-Christian. Washington refused to take communion his whole life, and he stated on the floor of the Congress while President over the first Treaty America signed: "America is not in any way a Nation founded on Christian principles."

Laurence Gardner showed in his books that Newton was called "The Last of the Magicians" by his colleagues for a three hour lecture he gave on Sumerian occult tradition, on the subject of the Magicians. He was also an astrologer which is forbidden in the Bible along with anything to do with being a Magician.

The book, "ISAAC NEWTON'S FREEMASONRY; The Alchemy of Science and Mysticism" by Alain Bauer goes into detail that Newton was an occultist who had a massive amount of Hermetic knowledge. Newton was a member of The Gentlemen's Club of Spalding, which was a secretive Masonic club.

From the book:

"Sir Isaac Newton (1642-1727), the noted English scientist and mathematician, wrote many works that would now be classified as occult studies. There is no verifiable record of Newton being a Freemason. Despite this lack of evidence, Isaac Newton is still frequently identified as being a member of several early Masonic Lodges including the Grand Lodge of England. There is a Freemason's Lodge operating at Cambridge University named The Isaac Newton University Lodge (UGLE), however this does not emphatically mean that Isaac Newton was a founder or even a member, as there are many social and scholastic clubs which bear his name. There is continued speculation as to the role that Newton may have had in the formation of Masonic Orders in their modern context. Newton's membership of The Royal Society and the fact that many Royal Society members have been identified as early Freemasons has led many to believe Newton was a Mason himself. It is clear that Newton was deeply interested in architecture, sacred geometry, and the structure of the Temple of Solomon, a subject that plays an important role in early Masonic mythology. However, ultimately there is no evidence to directly connect Newton to Freemasonry.

Perhaps the secret society which most influenced Isaac Newton were the Rosicrucian's. Though the Rosicrucian movement had caused a great deal of excitement within Europe's scholarly community during the early 17th century, by the time Newton had reached maturity the movement had become less sensationalized. However, the Rosicrucian movement still would have a profound influence upon Newton, particularly in regard to his alchemical work and philosophical thought. During his own life, Newton was openly accused of being a Rosicrucian, as were many members of The Royal Society. Though it is not known for sure if Isaac Newton was in fact a Rosicrucian, and he never publicly identified himself as one, from his writings it does appear that he may have shared many of their sentiments and beliefs."

Newton worked to keep his Masonic memberships mainly secret, just as his works into the occult, due to the political control of the Church of England. Many of Newton's anti-Christian beliefs at that time were illegal and could have ended his career and had him arrested.

Blasphemy alone was a criminal offense in England at the time. Newton did however refuse to become a minister in the Church of England, which was part of his duty of his office at the university, and he was absolved of such. It's no surprise as to why.

This was back when Free Masonry was still Satanic, before the Jewish bankers took control with their Illuminati in the later 18th century and removed the original doctrines, and replaced it with Jewish doctrines and Communism. Washington himself, in a letter to a friend which still resides in the Library of Congress, warned that the Masonic Society was being infiltrated by the doctrine of the Illuminati which was a front for the Jewish Rothschilds and other Jewish power elites at the time.

"Weishaupt himself did not enter a lodge until 1777 when he received induction into the Lodge by Theodore de Bon Conseil in Munich. However, once inside Masonry, Weishaupt immediately went to work with another Rothschild agent to inject the Illuminati doctrine, hand in hand with Judaic occult systems to put the Gentiles under the control of the Elders of Zion, while at the same time rooting out the original Masonic spiritual doctrines and philosophy of universal spiritual law. Weishaupt and his agents organized the Congress of Wilhelmsbad at the Castle of William IX of Hesse-Kassel, to occur on July 16, 1782. That special event, which was momentous in both size and aspirations, was attended by elite representatives of Masonic lodges from all over. It was also there that a decision was reached to allow the previously excluded Jews to be granted admittance into Freemasonry."

One can see the American Founders were Satanists and created a Masonic Republic based on the original Satanic teachings of the Masons.

Newton left the message himself for all to witness in his own story he created of the apple. He was sitting under the tree when the apple fell, and he took up the apple in his hand and was illuminated. The tree is the forbidden tree of knowledge, and the apple was what the serpent, Satan, offered Adam and Eve. They took it and rebelled against the Jewish tyrant Yahweh. The God of Newton was Satan.
