

The Great Banishing: Moving Towards A Better Future For Mankind

What many people describe as spirituality, due to lack of understanding, especially of knowledge, has went into a domain which is made nowadays to sound incoherent, driving many people to hocus pocus and in particular, all spirituality is banished into a "Fake" domain of non-existence.

The above was a reaction to the perception of Abrahamic religions on the subject, which indeed, promote extreme stupidity and incoherence into this area of life. From elaborate Philosophical texts, analysis, and massive understanding, we went into some bullshit about how one must just plea to the Jew on the sky to eventually not get burned. Naturally, this made people disgusted, and people more conscious revolted sooner or later to this ideal.

Great spiritual meanings which have extreme depth, and are also the foundation of many exceptionally deep universal Truths, are rendered into crap. One such teaching is how "All is love", which is a gross oversimplification of the concept of the "All" and how "Venus rules the all" in Ancient thought. This concept is about the interconnectedness of the universe, and not about puny small explanations. The universe is kept together by the force of "Venus", which is the force of "Love" and connection, but this is not as linear and as gross as described. Particles are kept together by bonds, and these bonds are related to the concept of Venus or Union.

Enemy spirituality trampled these concepts to the ground, and the knowledge was given to severe idiots (created by the enemy of course) and people who behave like animals, and as thus, profanity was the only thing that was going to result from this. Non initiated, careless people, and people who wanted to exploit humanity (We all know which race did this very happily) took these concepts, desecrated them, and turned them into shit. To make sure that this destruction would be thorough, they made sure to kill every ancient Pagan who understood these concepts on a better basis.

Nature, is highly obviously giving many animals a lot of abilities which to us may seem like "strange", such as the Dolphin. Dolphins do communicate telepathically, by what we would define as telepathy. They do not need cellphones for this communication. Other animals also communicate in other, very natural ways, and create extremely complex things and complex planning, without using plans, blueprints, or in particular planning things out logically or technologically.

Human mothers will understand the concept of telepathy in a direct way. Many mothers, especially during pregnancy, do experience these emotions towards their children. This lasts throughout the life. Mothers can wake up during sleep when their children feel emotionally unwell, or when something happens to them. Motherhood is like a fast forward button into spirituality, and is a very spiritual procedure. A mother who has felt this or experienced this knows beyond any doubt that these things exist. One of the reasons motherhood is frowned upon and banished is this very specific reason. Mother and witch have some things in common.

Other species than the human ones, they do not require any microchip to have these abilities and certainly we don't either. What we need merely, is to just practice spiritually until these abilities manifest in humanity, which are already present in a half-botched way. Many people do have spiritual abilities, or at least, here and there, but since these are not trained, and no knowledge exists on how to sufficiently train them, these are lost. Not only this, but the world beats these out of human beings deliberately and violently. The mind is programmed to the last screw in it, to violently disbelieve in all of these.

Today, modern technology we have, emulates a lot of these abilities both of animals and man, and we have definite proof of it existing. It's possible to transfer messages through a distance through forms of light and wavelength, we do this everyday. However if someone supports that this is possible by the human being "In itself", they are rendered insane, but when this is supported in technology, one just turns on their wi-fi or bluetooth to see exactly this concept manifesting.

Cables are no longer required in communication. What is required is a specific vibration wavelength produced, and sent to an ample receiver, which we can call remote wifi technology or before this, the Radio. And then, communication takes place. Technology is only an indirect manifestation of our thoughts about things. We thought that we can project messages over distance, and we made the technology based on natural principles.

A lot of effort is being put for decades in completely disregarding any evidence about these things and every awareness of what is spiritual existing, simply because, if this box opens up and people start posing questions, then the whole status quo of present day jewish controlled mankind is going to collapse. The enemy has done every effort possible to stop this event, but the Gods have been pushing it through, so currently, we are in a middle ground where the enemy uses their worldly power to merely pervert what they can no longer stop and poison it.

One example here is how people seek spiritual experience, but all the info they hop upon, is about drugs, or enemy infested "Spirituality".

Ironically, we know about a lot of things today, that are proof and go into the spiritual laws of the universe, but the enemy tries to control perception about these things, and make them look like they have nothing to do with spirituality, which, according to them, is hocus pocus crap.

However, principles like the Eye of Ra or Wadjet, and how it is the "Life Giving Eye" or the "Eye of Creation", is no different than what Quantum Mechanics and Physics admit to us today - that our observation affects the world on a quantum level, and this brings forward some manifestations. This is a gross over simplification, but along the lines, it is what it is.

Where we as a species are concerned, we have human collective perception.

This is why Abrahamic programs as we progress, and other life hating programs, especially as humans become more numerous, have to be stopped and removed completely from mankind. We are disarming them on a higher level with the RTR before it is too late, however, the creation and generation of negativity is still a true thing. This is because having a perception of death, anguish, deserved suffering, and general other things, by the tens of billions, manifests in our environment exactly these circumstances, or affects them to go down the drain. Abrahamic programs are a life hating mind virus.

Another projection of this virus is the constant projection of "Love". As anyone can see, this world is anything but "Love" based. This world is hate based, and not love based, despite of the "Sincerest" efforts of this hoax that claims to make this world "better". This happens because when you enforce love, this is no different than a rapist, and what does this force create? Hatred. The world would be more tranquil without this constant nauseating force that goes against all that is human. A balance is required. This is only one of the drawbacks of the enemy programs in the mass consciousness of mankind.

Humanity is resisting and trying to advance, but the more we advance, the more we find ourselves having to escape from the consequences of this mental virus. If we advance past a level with these ideals, we will just destroy ourselves directly.

This is programmed in the mass mind as the "Final Judgement" and this happens when in the Mental Virus Bible Book?

When humanity has sufficiently advanced, "Knowledge has increased", "People built the tower of Babel" and other checkpoints of human evolution are put in code-words inside this alien inspired book. When humans cross these lines, they are programmed to self-destruct on an unconscious level, and the enemy accelerates this. Beliefs like this have been embed powerfully in the minds of billions of people, and this creates a psychic disaster.

Long story short, the above has happened, because there are other beings in the world and universe also. In writings of the enemy, it was written that many of them considered humanity living garbage, and that in order to avoid us becoming a "Psychic biohazard", they attempted direct destruction of humans. As they were foiled, they then attempted slow and gradual infiltration and subversion of humanity from the inside, such as for example creating faiths that abolished our perception about spirituality or anything like that.

In the modern world, it's easy to forget also that until Europe pushed through with the scientific advances from the 15th century onward, hardly anything existed of modern and feasible technology on a mass scale to change life, either. In order to get to this state again, a lot of bloodshed and wars had to take place for centuries, so that the system that was ongoing would crack, and eventually, some light to shine through on this earth again. We were at the carriage age, and some places hardly even had the wheel going. Everything we have manifested was hard work, but it happened fast and quickly, compared to the prior centuries, given Xianity has displaced from key fields and key positions such as science.

The Gods have flowed in and pushed the enemy back to give us one go at it, again. But as per usual with the enemy, advances come part and part positive and negative, at the same time. For example, we definitely advanced, but we also got the Atom bomb, and now as we advance with computers and AI, we will also have other dangers to face in the future. As we progress, these will be magnified. On the other hand, the splitting of the atom, has been put in control and can provide with Nuclear energy, which, if we took a different evolutionary route, we may have found out a better alternative.

In regard to who is making the machinations on a global scale to pervert and bastardize every human achievement only to further enslave humanity, just go take a quick look on all the "leading thinkers" in AI who want to use this to enslave mankind into some sort of The Matrix in real life scenario, and you will find that most of them belong into a very specific tribe whom we all know the reptilian nature of here. On the other side look at all the people working to make these better for humanity, affordable, and in general, turn these to our benefit, and you will see mostly Gentiles.

Every knowledge that falls on the hands of that tribe is used for total evil and gross things. Those of us invested in the spiritual war, do know beyond any doubt, and have seen beyond all doubt, what the enemy has done to spiritual knowledge, and how this has been used recklessly and in the most dumb way possible. It therefore has become a mission for centuries now to deal with this specific species that wants to ruin everything, only as a prerequisite to our advancement, and ironically even, our very and literal existence.

People generation by generation, do their part for Satan and the Gods, and push things to a better direction. We are living testament of this.

They also target people of intelligence, spiritual aptitude, and wisdom in all races are chased down. Ancient Pagans and spiritually developed people, but also, all their work, suddenly has vanished, and we only have recovered and made things accessible hardly this last century. This can be individuals, or collective purges. Tibet didn't get massacred for no reason. Today, Tibet still remains to be something, but it's a shadow of what it was before the invasion of inferiors like Communists. People did serious spiritual research and ascent on this place. This was only one place of those existing worldwide, today existing to be only shadows of themselves.

Meanwhile however, all these positive advances made, we are constantly threatened by dumb wars (Such as US - Iran nonsense by Israel) and other stupidities, such as the full throttle invasion that "suddenly" happened to wipe out Europeans, or prolific pointless global birthing which under the current system of production of waste, will accelerate our collective doom. Humanity doesn't have the wisdom to stop or halt this, we keep going straight into ape-land, or so it appears.

The mission to wipe out European people today is solely a last ditch effort of the enemy to restore us collectively back to the flattened state we were centuries ago as a planet, on other eggs of the work of the enemy, we have a rapidly rising Nuclear Communist power such as China rearing it's head, threatening a complete purge of every value of freedom generations spilled endless blood to safeguard about today.

With the Final RTR, the situation goes deeply. On one aspect, the RTR is a reversal of the letters of the enemy. However, Satan on the topic specifically, (when it came out) that this RTR is essentially linked to the meaning behind the letters themselves by the enemy higher ups (non-human), which, as we go deeper, also relates to the influence of the enemy on the higher level, those from "beyond". This negativity has been thrown haphazardly on our planet, and we are reversing and wiping it out. This banishes them out our world on a very deep level, and this extends past the Hebrew as a language or the reptilian offspring that lives here. It is all driven out.

Consider this a big exorcism of a multidimensional plague, a great banishing. This is advanced use of spiritual means to clean out a giant mess. As we progress on the future, this cleaning of the mess, will manifest on the materialized world, and the world will be balanced out. Positive work has been done already and we have to be proud. Naturally, as this is done, the enemy will be frantic. Equally so, the matter will be solved as it's progressed.

We have to have faith in our Gods, and in what we do, and we will be successful. Despite of the deck stacked against humanity, we have to put our faith in our work. The deck has been stacked against humanity many times before, and the enemy laughed that we were going to collapse or remain as lower than pigs, and many times we have stole the snobbish smile from their face. This time we won't only steal their smile, but also punish them and push forth Justice on them for their incessant bullying of mankind.
