

Winning

A few years of doing the RTR's daily has drained the enemy thoughtform down drastically to the point of almost nothing. This enemy energy thoughtform has been running for centuries, and has been empowered daily by hundreds of million to billions of people. Our RTR's have gotten to the point that they are materializing right away into the world. That is only from a small number of people doing them daily for only a few years. This is because the enemy "god" thoughtform is drastically weakened by the RTR's already. A small number of people (Spiritual Satanists) in a few years vs billions of people (jews, xians, muslims, and so on) for centuries. That is TOTAL WIN!!!!

Think about what the Final RTR is doing to the enemy and will continue to do to them, with the RTR being done daily. It is erasing their entire "god" from existence, and with that, their entire global empire is falling apart as it is all built on this god thoughtform they created. Their god is the word and the word is their god; this is right in the opening line of their Torah, and the word in their Torah is the 22 letters of the Hebrew alphabet. Their god is the 22 letters of the Hebrew alphabet, that is why they call their god Hashem, meaning, "the name".... It is chanted as the 22 letters in Judaism. Their empire is falling like all of Mordor (Lord of the Rings) fell when the one ring was thrown into the fires of Mount Doom. What else perished with the one ring.... Golem. This will include the total and eternal collapse of the enemy false god.

And with doing the Final RTR daily, you are removing all the curses and bindings from yourself, and from the astral grid around the planet; so your own spiritual practices and magical workings will become more powerful and be able to manifest totally as well. The jews place the 22 letters of their false god on their symbol of the tree of life, which is a stolen map of the human soul. The ten worlds on their tree are the three upper worlds, consisting of the three main parts and energy points of the brain; and the seven other worlds are based on the seven planets, the seven chakras. An example of the three upper worlds: Uranus, the higher octave of Mercury, rules the pineal gland, telepathic abilities, and such. All 22 Hebrew letters are placed on the pathways in specific combinations to bind the Gentile soul. This is why people are reporting that doing the Final RTR daily is opening their soul drastically. It is removing the bindings, as well as allowing for years of power meditations to shine through fully. The Final RTR is a form of daily power meditation, and is necessary to achieve full transformation of the soul.

The Final RTR – do it daily.

About Tolkien, I don't think he really put any Xian elements in his Lord of the Rings, he was good friends with C.S Lewis and even brought him into Xianity. However, Tolkien criticized Lewis for putting Xian elements into his fantasy tales. Tolkien I think was more of a Pagan than a Xian, and his Xianity was more cultural of the time. He was obviously interested the most in Paganism, as he chose to become a professor in that subject instead of becoming a Priest.

Even his perceived Xian elements really come to be a type of Zoroastrian mythos. He has a pantheon of Gods, not a single monotheistic god. In fact, in LOTR it was Sauron who tried to introduce the monotheism. Note with the fall of Númenor (the Kingdom of Men), it was the Númenóreans (the most noble race of men) who remained true to the Gods, and for their loyalty they were spared and moved to Middle Earth. This is the other part of Atlantis. Tolkien also put totally racist elements in his story, he comments on the quality of blood of the Gondorians and their aristocracy and the problem of the mixing of superior blood with lower quality people. There is a lot of racial imagery, with the superior humans having the most Númenórean blood. The superior lines of the humans all come from the union of Elven blood with the highest human types. The Elven Race is perfected and immortal with Siddhi powers; they are like Gods and live with the Gods in Valinor for the most part. This relates to the ancient Aryans in the Golden Age.

The human is the second age, like a Silver Age, (this is the "dawn of the age of men" referred to in LOTR, led by humans), with Númenor that arises after the first age and the war against Melkor, in which the Gods themselves come from Valinor to destroy Melkor. And this second age is led by the superior half Elven half human lines. The returned King of Gondor also marries the Elven woman, the daughter of Elrond (the brother of the King who founded the line of Númenor). Elrond chooses to become full Elven instead of half divine human. The worst crime of the Elves in the first age was the Kin slaying and it was caused by greed; the entire first age becomes the War of the Jewel. It's the same attitude that destroyed this age of the Elven in Middle Earth that leads to the fall of Númenor in the next age: the revolt against the Gods and against the spiritual teachings of Sanatana Dharma. Sauron is the embodiment of the Asura... Sauron... Asura... Asur is also Asaur or Asaura in Sanskrit.

Would vibrating the reversed hebrew letters on the parts of the soul the kikes placed them on, like the chakras or pineal gland, be effective or worth a try?

No. In the end, the jews have words upon words of power in Hebrew to curse the Gentile soul in many different ways. However, they are all made out of the 22 letters, so this removes everything. The whole torah is one big curse itself upon Gentiles and it's thousands of words long. But it's thousands of different combinations of the same 22 letters.

But you've also said that we will win in our lifetimes. That sounds like we would win maybe in 10-50 years. But when the Enemy thoughtform is almost nothing, isn't it the same as we're almost winning this war?

We are winning battles after a very long time of people doing nothing against the enemy. We are winning everyday more and more.

But are we done with this? Hell no. Are we close to final victory? Hell no, if one is being honest.

All that is said is that we are winning, not that we have won. "When" is not a matter in question either. One would lie in full if they said they know when this is 'over'.

Also, our meaning of over is strict.

I did state in the past that it might take a century to clean up the environment and totally heal the planet and the people on it from centuries of enemy pollution. But that is after we win. Cleaning the oceans, reforesting the planet, turning barren sand regions into grass lands and forests, cleaning the soil of all the toxins, dealing with the waste dumps and nuclear pollution and such takes time.

You have this habit of assigning statements and claims to people out of context. I have mentioned this to you before you need to stop and think before you do this its confusing to people. Or provide context and a link, otherwise it's the telephone game and that is how confusion arises.
